
State Government & Tribal Relations Committee

SSB 6125

Brief Description: Preserving records and artifacts regarding the historical treatment of people with intellectual and developmental disabilities in Washington state.

Sponsors: Senate Committee on Ways & Means (originally sponsored by Senators Kauffman, Frame, Wellman, Trudeau, Wilson, J., Conway, Kuderer, Lovick, Nguyen, Nobles, Saldaña, Valdez, Wagoner and Wilson, C.).

Brief Summary of Substitute Bill

- Directs the Division of Archives and Records Management to work with the University of Washington Institute on Human Development and Disability, the Department of Social and Health Services, and the Department of Archaeology and Historic Preservation to create a preservation plan to organize, catalogue, and store historical documents and artifacts identified at Lakeland Village.

Hearing Date: 2/20/24

Staff: Connor Schiff (786-7093).

Background:

The Division of Archives and Records Management.

The Office of the Secretary of State includes the Division of Archives and Records Management (State Archives), which is responsible for managing the retention, cataloging, and preservation of the public records inventory. The State Archives also operates regional offices that support state and local agencies with records management.

This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.

Institute on Human Development and Disability.

The University of Washington Institute on Human Development and Disability provides an integrated interdisciplinary program in the field of developmental disabilities to advance basic and translational research and to enhance the capacity of communities to provide state-of-the-art comprehensive services.

Lakeland Village.

Lakeland Village is a state-operated 24-hour facility that provides training, education, and healthcare for individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities. The facility was originally established in 1914.

Summary of Bill:

Working with the University of Washington Institute on Human Development and Disability, the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS), and the Department of Archaeology and Historic Preservation (DAHP), the Division of Archives and Records Management must create a preservation plan to organize, catalogue, and store the historical documents and artifacts identified at Lakeland Village.

Historical documents and artifacts may include but are not limited to medical records, letters, images, films, and artifacts of past residents with intellectual or development disabilities at Lakeland Village.

The preservation plan must:

- identify all records and artifacts that are available and at risk of destruction;
- assess the condition of the records and artifacts and level of preservation required;
- outline the steps that must be taken to preserve the records and artifacts;
- include a timeline and budget for the preservation work; and
- include plans for public access for historical and educational purposes.

The plan must be submitted to the appropriate legislative committees by September 1, 2025.

The Division of Archives and Records Management and the DSHS must work together in storing and retaining the records. No records must be destroyed until the preservation plan is completed and the work is funded during fiscal year 2026.

Indirect costs to the University of Washington are limited to 15 percent.

The bill expires June 30, 2026. This bill is null and void unless funded in the 2023-25 Omnibus Appropriations Act.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session in which the bill is passed. However, the bill is null and void unless funded in the budget.