SENATE COMMITTEE ON HEALTH & LONG TERM CARE

Staff: Greg Attanasio (786-7410)

Background: The Ryan White HIV/AIDS Grant Program, operated by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Health Resources and Services Administration, provides grants to cities, states, counties, and community-based groups to help low-income people with HIV. Grant funding can be used to provide care, medication, and essential support services. The Department of Health (DOH) receives grant funding to operate the Early Intervention Program (EIP), which has 4200 people enrolled. EIP provides the following services to help eligible people with HIV:

- payment for certain HIV-related prescription medications—for clients with insurance, EIP may pay what insurance does not for formulary-covered medications;
- client assistance to get an identification number and a pharmacy card—clients can present these to a contracting pharmacy to get their medications, in most cases for a small monthly fee;
- assistance in acquiring insurance and Medicaid eligibility; and
- assistance with insurance premium payments and co-pays on HIV-related medications and office services.

Because EIP funds medications, Washington receives rebate money from pharmaceutical companies in addition to grant funds. The grant requires that rebates be spent on the program. Currently, rebate funds are put into the general fund. The projected rebate revenue is $130 million for the 2023-25 biennium.

Summary of Bill: A non-appropriated medication rebate revenue account is created in the custody of the state treasury. The EIP must deposit any receipts from pharmaceutical rebates generated by the purchase of medications for any person enrolled in the EIP into the account. The expenditures may only be used for services defined in the grant award from the Ryan White HIV/AIDS Grant Program and only the Secretary of Health or the secretary's designee may authorize expenditures from the account.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Not requested.
