SENATE COMMITTEE ON TRANSPORTATION

Staff: Daniel Masterson (786-7454)

Background: Naming Highways. The Washington State Transportation Commission (Commission) is responsible for naming state transportation facilities, including highways and bridges. The Commission naming policy states: a naming is done in a thorough and deliberative manner to honor and institute an enduring memory of a person or group of people who have contributed significantly to the well-being of the state or nation and with the widespread support of the people from the area in which the facility is located.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony: PRO: SR 515 runs along the East Hill in my district and it connects with what is currently Martin Luther King Jr. Way. In transportation we have named a few other highways in memory of other folks. This is certainly fitting, but it also carries certain significant meaning to us and to my constituents on East Hill. This is also within Martin Luther King County. This is fitting for this day and this area. This idea came to my attention at a stoplight. I was interested in how many other cities have Martin Luther King Way or Blvd. Martin Luther King was a pivotal figure in American history and the civil rights movement, advocating for justice, equality, and nonviolent protest. He advocated for all of the people in these United States in the face of racism and discrimination. The extension of Martin Luther King Way is a symbol of the surrounding community and is an appropriate way to honor his life and contributions. This means a lot to me and to others who I've talked to about this.
