

RCW 72.66.034 Applicant's personality and conduct—Examination.

Prior to the granting of any furlough, the secretary shall examine the applicant's personality and past conduct and determine whether or not he or she represents a satisfactory risk for furlough. The secretary shall not grant a furlough to any person whom he or she believes represents an unsatisfactory risk. [2012 c 117 § 495; 1973 c 20 § 12.]
