WAC 246-453-020 Uniform procedures for the identification of indigent persons. For the purpose of identifying those patients that will be classified as indigent persons, all hospitals shall adopt and implement the following procedures:

(1) The initiation of collection efforts directed at the responsible party shall be precluded pending an initial determination of sponsorship status, provided that the responsible party is cooperative with the hospital's efforts to reach an initial determination of sponsorship status;

(a) Collection efforts shall include any demand for payment or transmission of account documents or information which is not clearly identified as being intended solely for the purpose of transmitting information to the responsible party;

(b) The initial determination of sponsorship status shall be completed at the time of admission or as soon as possible following the initiation of services to the patient;

(c) If the initial determination of sponsorship status indicates that the responsible party may meet the criteria for classification as an indigent person, as described in WAC 246-453-040, collection efforts directed at the responsible party will be precluded pending a final determination of that classification, provided that the responsible party is cooperative with the hospital's reasonable efforts to reach a final determination of sponsorship status;

(d) During the pendency of the initial determination of sponsorship status and/or the final determination of the applicability of indigent person criteria, hospitals may pursue reimbursement from any third-party coverage that may be identified to the hospital;

(e) The requirements of this subsection shall not apply to clinics operated by disproportionate share hospitals, as defined and identified by the department of social and health services, medical assistance services, provided that patients are advised of the availability of charity care at the time that services are provided and when presented with a request for payment.

(2) Notice shall be made publicly available that charges for services provided to those persons meeting the criteria established within WAC 246-453-040 may be waived or reduced.

(3) Any responsible party who has been initially determined to meet the criteria identified within WAC 246-453-040 shall be provided with at least fourteen calendar days or such time as the person's medical condition may require, or such time as may reasonably be necessary to secure and to present documentation as described within WAC 246-453-030 prior to receiving a final determination of sponsorship status.

(4) Hospitals must make every reasonable effort to determine the existence or nonexistence of third-party sponsorship that might cover in full or in part the charges for services provided to each patient.

(5) Hospitals may require potential indigent persons to use an application process attesting to the accuracy of the information provided to the hospital for purposes of determining the person's qualification for charity care sponsorship. Hospitals may not impose application procedures for charity care sponsorship which place an unreasonable burden upon the responsible party, taking into account any physical, mental, intellectual, or sensory deficiencies or language barriers which may hinder the responsible party's capability of complying with the application procedures. The failure of a responsible party to reasonably complete appropriate application procedures shall be sufficient grounds for the hospital to initiate collection efforts directed at the patient.

(6) Hospitals may not require deposits from those responsible parties meeting the criteria identified within,

WAC 246-453-040 (1) or (2), as indicated through an initial determination of sponsorship status.

(7) Hospitals must notify persons applying for charity care sponsorship of their final determination of sponsorship status within fourteen calendar days of receiving information in accordance with WAC 246-453-030; such notification must include a determination of the amount for which the responsible party will be held financially accountable.

(8) In the event that the hospital denies the responsible party's application for charity care sponsorship, the hospital must notify the responsible party of the denial and the basis for that denial.

(9) All responsible parties denied charity care sponsorship under WAC 246-453-040 (1) or (2) shall be provided with, and notified of, an appeals procedure that enables them to correct any deficiencies in documentation or request review of the denial and results in review of the determination by the hospital's chief financial officer or equivalent.

(a) Responsible parties shall be notified that they have thirty calendar days within which to request an appeal of the final determination of sponsorship status. Within the first fourteen days of this period, the hospital may not refer the account at issue to an external collection agency. After the fourteen day period, if no appeal has been filed, the hospital may initiate collection activities.

(b) If the hospital has initiated collection activities and discovers an appeal has been filed, they shall cease collection efforts until the appeal is finalized.

(c) In the event that the hospital's final decision upon appeal affirms the previous denial of charity care designation under the criteria described in WAC 246-453-040 (1) or (2), the responsible party and the department of health shall be notified in writing of the decision and the basis for the decision, and the department of health shall be provided with copies of documentation upon which the decision was based.

(d) The department will review the instances of denials of charity care. In the event of an inappropriate denial of charity care, the department may seek penalties as provided in RCW 70.170.070.

(10) Hospitals should make every reasonable effort to reach initial and final determinations of charity care designation in a timely manner; however, hospitals shall make those designations at any time upon learning of facts or receiving documentation, as described in WAC 246-453-030, indicating that the responsible party's income is equal to or below two hundred percent of the federal poverty standard as adjusted for family size. The timing of reaching a final determination of charity care status shall have no bearing on the identification of charity care deductions from revenue as distinct from bad debts.

(11) In the event that a responsible party pays a portion or all of the charges related to appropriate hospital-based medical care services, and is subsequently found to have met the charity care criteria at the time that services were provided, any payments in excess of the amount determined to be appropriate in accordance with

WAC 246-453-040 shall be refunded to the patient within thirty days of achieving the charity care designation.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 70.170.060. 91-05-048 (Order 142), § 246-453-020, filed 2/14/91, effective 3/17/91.]

WAC 246-453-030 Data requirements for the identification of indigent persons. (1) For the purpose of reaching an initial determination of sponsorship status, hospitals shall rely upon information provided orally by the responsible party. The hospital may require the responsible party to sign a statement attesting to the accuracy of the information provided to the hospital for purposes of the initial determination of sponsorship status.

(2) Any one of the following documents shall be considered sufficient evidence upon which to base the final determination of charity care sponsorship status, when the income information is annualized as may be appropriate:

- (a) A "W-2" withholding statement;
- (b) Pay stubs;
- (c) An income tax return from the most recently filed calendar year;
- (d) Forms approving or denying eligibility for Medicaid and/or state-funded medical assistance;
- (e) Forms approving or denying unemployment compensation; or
- (f) Written statements from employers or welfare agencies.

(3) In the event that the responsible party's identification as an indigent person is obvious to hospital personnel, and the hospital personnel are able to establish the position of the income level within the broad criteria described in WAC 246-453-040 or within income ranges included in the hospital's sliding fee schedule, the hospital is not obligated to establish the exact income level or to request the aforementioned documentation from the responsible party, unless the responsible party requests further review.

(4) In the event that the responsible party is not able to provide any of the documentation described above, the hospital shall rely upon written and signed statements from the responsible party for making a final determination of eligibility for classification as an indigent person.

(5) Information requests, from the hospital to the responsible party, for the verification of income and family size shall be limited to that which is reasonably necessary and readily available to substantiate the responsible party's qualification for charity sponsorship, and may not be used to discourage applications for such sponsorship. Only those facts relevant to eligibility may be verified, and duplicate forms of verification shall not be demanded.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 70.170.060. 91-05-048 (Order 142), § 246-453-030, filed 2/14/91, effective 3/17/91.]

WAC 246-453-040 Uniform criteria for the identification of indigent persons. For the purpose of identifying indigent persons, all hospitals shall use the following criteria:

(1) All responsible parties with family income equal to or below one hundred percent of the federal poverty standard, adjusted for family size, shall be determined to be indigent persons qualifying for charity sponsorship for the full amount of hospital charges related to appropriate hospital-based medical services that are not covered by private or public third-party sponsorship;

(2) All responsible parties with family income between one hundred one and two hundred percent of the federal poverty standard, adjusted for family size, shall be determined to be indigent persons qualifying for discounts from charges related to appropriate hospital-based medical services in accordance with the hospital's sliding fee schedule and policies regarding individual financial circumstances;

(3) Hospitals may classify any individual responsible party whose income exceeds two hundred percent of the federal poverty standard, adjusted for family size, as an indigent person eligible for a discount from charges based upon that responsible party's individual financial circumstances.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 70.170.060. 91-05-048 (Order 142), § 246-453-040, filed 2/14/91, effective 3/17/91.]

WAC 246-453-050 Guidelines for the development of sliding fee schedules. All hospitals shall, within ninety days of the adoption of these rules, implement a sliding fee schedule for determination of discounts from billed charges for responsible parties meeting the criteria in WAC 246-453-040(2). These sliding fee schedules must be made available upon request.

(1) In developing these sliding fee schedules, hospitals must consider the following guidelines:

(a) The sliding fee schedule should consider the level of charges that are not covered by any public or private sponsorship in relation to or as a percentage of the responsible party's family income;

(b) The sliding fee schedule should determine the maximum amount of charges for which the responsible party will be expected to provide payment, with flexibility for hospital management to hold the responsible party accountable for a lesser amount after taking into account the specific financial situation of the responsible party;

(c) The sliding fee schedule should take into account the potential necessity for allowing the responsible party to satisfy the maximum amount of charges for which the responsible party will be expected to provide payment over a reasonable period of time, without interest or late fees; and

(d) Hospital policies and procedures regarding the sliding fee schedule should specify the individual financial circumstances which may be considered by appropriate hospital personnel for purposes of adjusting the amount resulting from the application of the sliding fee schedule, such as:

(i) Extraordinary nondiscretionary expenses relative to the amount of the responsible party's medical care expenses;

(ii) The existence and availability of family assets, which may only be considered with regard to the applicability of the sliding fee schedule;

(iii) The responsible party's future income earning capacity, especially where his or her ability to work in the future may be limited as a result of illness; and

(iv) The responsible party's ability to make payments over an extended period of time.

(2) Examples of sliding fee schedules which address the guidelines in the previous subsection are:

(a) A person whose annual family income is between one hundred one and two hundred percent of the federal poverty standard, adjusted for family size, shall be responsible for that portion of his/her hospital charges that are not covered by public or private sponsorship that is forty percent of the amount by which that person's annual family income exceeds one hundred percent of the federal poverty standard, adjusted for family size. This responsibility may be adjusted by appropriate hospital personnel after taking into consideration the individual financial circumstances of the responsible party. The responsible party's financial obligation which remains after the application of this sliding fee schedule may be payable in monthly installments over a reasonable period of time, without interest or late fees, as negotiated between the hospital and the responsible party.

(b) A person whose family income is between one hundred one and two hundred percent of the federal poverty standard, adjusted for family size, shall have his/her hospital charges that are not covered by public or private sponsorship reduced according to the schedule below. The resulting responsibility may be adjusted by appropriate hospital personnel after taking into consideration the individual financial circumstances of the responsible party. The responsible party's financial obligation which remains after the application of this sliding fee schedule may be payable in monthly installments over a reasonable period of time, without interest or late fees, as negotiated between the hospital and the responsible party. The schedule is as follows:

| INCOME AS A PERCENTAGE OF FEDERAL POVERTY LEVEL | PERCENTAGE DISCOUNT |
|--|----------------------------|
| One hundred one to one hundred thirty-three            | Seventy-five percent       |
| One hundred thirty-four to one hundred sixty-six       | Fifty percent              |
| One hundred sixty-seven to two hundred                 | Twenty-five percent        |

(3) The provisions of this section and RCW 70.170.060(5) shall not apply to the professional services of the hospital's medical staff, provided that the charges for such services are either submitted by the individual medical staff or are separately identified within the hospital's billing system.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 70.170.060. 91-05-048 (Order 142), § 246-453-050, filed 2/14/91, effective 3/17/91.]

WAC 246-453-060 Denial of access to emergency care based upon ability to pay and transfer of patients with emergency medical conditions or active labor. (1) No hospital or its medical staff shall adopt or maintain admission practices or policies which result in:

(a) A significant reduction in the proportion of patients who have no third-party coverage and who are unable to pay for hospital services;

(b) A significant reduction in the proportion of individuals admitted for inpatient hospital services for which payment is, or is likely to be, less than the anticipated charges for or costs of such services; or

(c) The refusal to admit patients who would be expected to require unusually costly or prolonged treatment for reasons other than those related to the appropriateness of the care available at the hospital.

(2) No hospital shall adopt or maintain practices or policies which would deny access to emergency care based on ability to pay. No hospital which maintains an emergency department shall transfer a patient with an emergency medical condition or who is in active labor unless the transfer is performed at the request of the patient or is due to the limited medical resources of the transferring hospital. Hospitals must follow reasonable procedures in making transfers to other hospitals including confirmation of acceptance of the transfer by the receiving hospital.

(3) The department shall monitor hospital compliance with subsections (1) and (2) of this section. The department shall report to the legislature and the governor on hospital compliance with these requirements and shall report individual instances of possible noncompliance to the state attorney general or the appropriate federal agency. For purposes of monitoring compliance with subsection (2) of this section, the department is to follow all definitions and requirements of federal law.

(4) Except as required by federal law and subsection (2) of this section, nothing in this section shall be interpreted to indicate that hospitals and their medical staff are required to provide appropriate hospital-based medical services, including experimental services, to any individual.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 70.170.060. 91-05-048 (Order 142), § 246-453-060, filed 2/14/91, effective 3/17/91.]

WAC 246-453-070 Standards for acceptability of hospital policies for charity care and bad debts. (1) Each hospital shall develop, and submit to the department, within ninety days of the adoption of these rules, charity care policies, procedures, and sliding fee schedules consistent with the requirements included in WAC 246-453-020, 246-453-030, 246-453-040, and 246-453-050. Any subsequent modifications to those policies, procedures, and sliding fee schedules must be submitted to the department no later than thirty days prior to their adoption by the hospital.

(2) Each hospital shall develop, and submit to the department within ninety days of the adoption of these rules, bad debt policies and procedures, including reasonable and uniform standards for collection of the unpaid portions of hospital charges that are the patient's responsibility. These standards are to be part of each hospital's system of accounts receivable management manuals, which support hospital collection policies. Manuals should cover procedures for preadmission, admission, discharge, outpatient registration and discharge, billing, and credit and collections. All subsequent modifications to these bad debt policies must be submitted to the department no later than thirty days prior to their adoption by the hospital.

(3) The department will review the charity care and bad debt policies and procedures submitted in accordance with the provisions of this section. If any of the policies and procedures do not meet the requirements of this section or WAC 246-453-020, 246-453-030, 246-453-040, or 246-453-050, the department shall reject the policies and procedures and shall so notify the hospital. Such notification shall be in writing, addressed to the hospital's chief executive officer or equivalent, and shall specify the reason(s) that the policies and procedures have been rejected. Any such notification must be mailed within fourteen calendar days of the receipt of the hospital's policies and procedures. Within fourteen days of the date of the rejection notification, the hospital shall revise and resubmit the policies and procedures.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 70.170.060. 91-05-048 (Order 142), § 246-453-070, filed 2/14/91, effective 3/17/91. WAC 246-453-085 Repealed. See Disposition Table at beginning of this chapter.

WAC 246-453-090 Penalties for violation. (1) Failure to file the policies, procedures, and sliding fee schedules as required by WAC 246-453-070 or the reports required by WAC 246-453-080 shall constitute a violation of chapter 9, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess., and the department will levy a civil penalty of one hundred dollars per day for each day following official notice of the violation. The department may grant extensions of time to file the reports, in which cases failure to file the reports shall not constitute a violation until the extension period has expired.

(2) Failure to comply with other provisions of Part V of chapter 9, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess., and chapter 70.170 RCW, and chapter 246-453 WAC, will result in civil penalties as provided within RCW 70.170.070(2), with the exception that the terms "not exceeding" and "not to exceed" will be read to mean "of."

WAC 246-806-010 Definitions. The following terms are so defined for the purposes of this chapter:

(1) "Board" means the board of chiropractic examiners and/or its designee.

(2) "College" means an institution whose curriculum provides education leading to the acquiring of a professional degree in chiropractic.

(3) "Approval" and "accreditation" are used interchangeably.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.25.017. 91-05-026 (Order 111B), recodified as § 246-806-010, filed 2/12/91, effective 3/15/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.25.025. 81-05-004 (Order PL 371), § 114-12-021, filed 2/6/81.]

WAC 246-806-020 Colleges—Policy. (1) In determining a college's eligibility for accreditation the board may utilize, at its discretion, recognized chiropractic accrediting associations, recognized regional accrediting associations, and appropriate professional firms, agencies and individuals.

(2) Accreditation shall be primarily contingent upon a course of study which incorporates educationally sound practices and complies with the chiropractic educational requirements for the state of Washington.

(3) A college must have successfully graduated a class prior to making application for accreditation.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.25.017. 91-05-026 (Order 111B), recodified as § 246-806-020, filed 2/12/91, effective 3/15/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.25.025. 81-05-004 (Order PL 371), § 114-12-011, filed 2/6/81.]

WAC 246-806-030 Accreditation of colleges—Procedure. (1) Application and determination. A chiropractic college which desires to be accredited by the board may secure an application form by sending a written request to the secretary of the board. The applicant shall complete the application form and submit it to the secretary of the board, along with any accompanying documents. Recent photographs of the college or the buildings in which the college is located shall be submitted with the application. Within one hundred twenty days after the receipt of the completed application, the board shall consider the application, determine whether or not the college fulfills the requirements for accreditation, and deposit in the mails a notice of the board's determination, addressed to the applicant. If the board determines that the college is not worthy of accreditation, the notice shall set forth the reasons for denial: Provided, The board may withhold making a determination for a reasonable period of time for any justifiable cause upon giving notice to the applicant.

(2) Interrogatories. If the board desires, it may request the applicant to answer specific inquiries. The granting or the denial of accreditation may be contingent upon the applicants' response to such inquiries.

(3) Oath. The answers to the inquiries in the application, and any other inquiries, shall be sworn to before a notary public.

(4) Inspection. If the board desires, it may make the physical inspection of a particular college a condition for its being accredited. Such necessary on-campus visitation of reasonable cost shall be funded by the applicant.

(5) Duration. A college which is once accredited shall continue to be accredited for so long as it fulfills the requirements set forth by the board, or to be set forth by the board. Upon receiving convincing evidence that a college has ceased to fulfill the requirements, the board shall withdraw the accreditation of the college and shall inform the college of its reasons for doing so. A college shall inform the board of changes, if any, in status which could reasonably jeopardize the college's qualifications for accreditation. Such changes shall include, but are not limited to, changes in curriculum, administration, faculty, classrooms and equipment.

(6) Revocation of accreditation. Where the board receives evidence that an accredited institution is not complying with board criteria, it may, after meeting with institutional representatives, place the institution on probation. The institution shall be supplied with a written bill of particulars setting forth the specifics of the non-compliance. The board and chief administrative officer of the institution may agree on a mutually acceptable timetable and procedures for correction of the deficiencies or the board may set the timetable. Should the institution not make the corrections recommended, or should further deficiencies develop during the probation, the board may, after meeting with institutional representatives, revoke the accreditation of the college.

(7) Reinstatement of accredited status. Once the board has revoked the accredited status of an institution, it must reapply by submitting either a new self-study or an updated self-study as may be required by the board. The board's usual procedure for applicants for initial accreditation and petitions for renewal is applied to petitioners for reinstatement. The visitation team report, hearing evidence and supporting data must show not only correction of the deficiencies which led to the dis-accreditation but, in addition, compliance with the board's criteria.

(8) Appeal. An appeal of a decision adverse to the college must be filed with the board within thirty days of receipt of the board's written decision. To be valid the appeal must contain a certified copy of a formal action authorizing the appeal, taken by a lawfully constituted meeting of the governing body of the institution. The appeal is based on a review of self-evaluation documents, catalog, visitor's report, institution's response to visitor's report, pre-decision hearing of the board and board decision. Alleged improvements effective subsequent to the evaluation which can be verified only through another on-site visit provide the basis for another evaluation, not for an appeal. An appeal does not include a dispute on a finding of fact unless appellant makes a prima facie showing that the finding is clearly erroneous in view of the reliable, probative and substantial evidence on the whole record before the board. The board shall meet to consider the appeal at its earliest opportunity, and send a formal reply to the appealing college within thirty days of such meeting, unless it extends the time for good cause shown.

When circumstances justify it, the board may grant a time extension. In the case of permanent retirement or illness, the board may grant indefinite waiver of continuing chiropractic education as a requirement for relicensure, provided an affidavit is received indicating the chiropractor is not providing chiropractic services to consumers. If such permanent illness or retirement status is changed or consumer chiropractic services resumed, it is incumbent upon the licensed chiropractor to immediately notify the board and meet continuing chiropractor education requirements for relicensure. Continuing chiropractic education hours will be prorated for the portion of that three-year period involving resumption of such services.

WAC 246-807-300 Scope of practice—Revocation or suspension of license authorized for practice outside scope. (1) The chiropractic disciplinary board finds that over the past few years there has been an increasing number of persons licensed as chiropractors who have been practicing other healing arts while holding themselves out to the public as chiropractors to the detriment of the public health and welfare of the state of Washington and contrary to the legislative directive contained in RCW 18.26.010(5). The board further finds and deems it necessary to carry out the provisions of chapter 18.26 RCW that this rule be adopted to give guidance to members of the profession, and the public, in interpreting for purposes of application by the disciplinary board of RCW 18.26.030, the scope of health care which comes within the definition of chiropractic in RCW 18.25.005 and which is authorized under a license to practice chiropractic in the state of Washington.

(2) RCW 18.25.005 defines the term "chiropractic" for purposes of chapters 18.25 and 18.26 RCW, as that practice of health care which deals with the detection of subluxations, which shall be defined as any alteration of the biomechanical and physiological dynamics of contiguous spinal structures which can cause neuronal disturbances, the chiropractic procedure preparatory to, and complementary to the correction thereof, by adjustment or manipulation of the articulations of the vertebral column and its immediate articulations for the restoration and maintenance of health; it includes the normal regimen and rehabilitation of the patient, physical examination to determine the necessity for chiropractic care, the use of x-ray and other analytical instruments generally used in the practice of chiropractic: Provided, That no chiropractor shall prescribe or dispense any medicine or drug nor practice obstetrics or surgery nor use x-rays for therapeutic purposes: Provided, however, That the term "chiropractic" as defined in this act shall not prohibit a practitioner licensed under chapter 18.71 RCW from performing accepted medical procedures, except such procedures shall not include the adjustment by hand of any articulation of the spine: And provided further, That nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the rendering of dietary advice.

(3) The board finds that the following diagnostic techniques and procedures, by whatever name known, are not within the definition of "chiropractic" as specified in subsection (2) of this section and in RCW 18.25.005, and, consequently, a license to practice chiropractic does not authorize their use:

(a) The use of x-rays or other forms of radiation for any other reason than to x-ray the human skeleton.

(b) The use of any form of electrocardiogram.

(c) The testing and reduction to mathematical formulae of sputum and/or urine (commonly known as "Reams" testing).

(d) Hair analysis.

(e) The use of a vasculizer or plethysonograph (commonly known as plethysmography) except for research purposes.

(f) The use of iridology.

(g) The taking of blood samples.

(h) Female breast examinations.

(i) The use of any form of electromyography except for research purposes, and provided no fee is charged until proper protocol is established and approved by the chiropractic disciplinary board.

The above list is not to be considered exhaustive or to limit the board in any way from finding under the statutory definition in RCW 18.25.005 that any other diagnostic technique or procedure is outside the scope of chiropractic practice.

(4) The board finds that the following treatment modalities, by whatever name known, are not within the definition of "chiropractic" as specified in subsection (2) of this section and in RCW 18.25.005 and, consequently, a license to practice chiropractic does not authorize their use:

(a) Ultrasound, diathermy, high voltage galvanic therapy and x-rays or other radiation.

(b) Colonic irrigation.

(c) Extremity adjusting.

(d) Electrotherapy.

(e) The use of a transcutaneous electrical nerve stimulator (TENS).

(f) The use of the endonasal technique.

(g) The use of any type of casting other than light body casting.

(h) The use of meridian therapy, whether known as "acupressure," or the same type of therapy under any other names.

(i) The use of hypnosis for any other than relaxation purposes.

(j) The use of clinical herbology.

The above list is not to be considered exhaustive or to limit the board in any way from finding under the statutory definition in RCW 18.25.005 that any other treatment modalities are outside the scope of chiropractic practice.

(5) The use by a chiropractor of diagnostic techniques or procedures or treatment modalities which are outside the definition of chiropractic in RCW 18.25.005, whether or not listed in this rule, or the use by a chiropractor of any of the diagnostic techniques and procedures listed in subsection (3) of this section or the use by a chiropractor of any of the treatment modalities listed in subsection (4) of this section shall constitute unprofessional conduct under RCW 18.130.180(12) which shall be good and sufficient cause for revocation or suspension of that chiropractor's license to practice chiropractic in Washington.

WAC 246-807-320 Records and x-rays and withdrawal from practice--Maintenance and retention of patient records. (1) Any chiropractor who treats patients in the state of Washington shall maintain all treatment records regarding patients treated. These records may include, but shall not be limited to treatment plans, patient charts, patient histories, correspondence, financial data, and billing. These records shall be retained by the chiropractor for five years in an orderly, accessible file and shall be readily available for inspection by the chiropractic disciplinary board or its authorized representative: Provided, That x-rays or copies of records may be forwarded pursuant to a licensed agent's written request. Also, office records shall state the date on which the records were released, method forwarded and to whom, and the reason for the release. A reasonable fee may be charged the patient to cover mailing and clerical costs.

(2) A chiropractor shall honor within fifteen days a written request from an adult patient or their legal representative or that of a minor child to release original x-rays on a loan basis to other licensed health care providers or the chiropractor may provide duplicate films and may charge the patient reasonable duplication costs. Once the original films have been loaned at patient request, the chiropractor is no longer responsible for them, nor for their retrieval or subsequent production.

A chiropractor who has received original x-rays on a loan basis shall return them to the loaning chiropractor within sixty days unless other arrangements are made.

(3) The chiropractor shall refund any part of fees paid in advance that have not been earned.

(4) The board requests that the executor or executrix of a deceased chiropractor comply with the duties set forth herein to the fullest extent possible. The board staff will provide advice and assistance to such executor or executrix upon request.

Statutory Authority: RCW 18.32.035.

WAC 246-818-020 Examination eligibility and application. (1) To be eligible for the dental examination, the applicant must be a graduate from a dental school approved by the Washington state board of dental examiners. The board of dental examiners adopts those standards of the American Dental Association's Commission on Accreditation which were relevant to accreditation of dental schools and current in January 1981 and has approved all and only those dental schools which were accredited by the commission as of January 1981. Other dental schools which apply for board approval and which meet these adopted standards to the board's satisfaction will be approved, but it is the responsibility of a school to apply for approval and of a student to ascertain whether or not a school has been approved by the board.

(2) To be eligible for the dental examination the applicant must provide certification of the successful completion of the National Dental Examination Parts I and II.

(3) Applications for the examination may be secured from the state of Washington department of health. The application must be completed in every respect, and reach the state of Washington department of health at least sixty days prior to the examination.

(4) The only acceptable proof of graduation from an approved dental school is an official transcript from such school, or a verified list of graduating students from the dean of the dental school. The verified list of students will only be acceptable from applicants who have graduated within forty-five days of the examination for which they are applying. An applicant may complete his/her other application requirements and be scheduled for the examination before he/she has graduated, but no applicant will be admitted to the examination unless the official transcript or the verified list from the dean has been received by the department of health on or before the first day of the examination.

(5) In case of applicant having previously been in practice, the board requires a sworn statement covering history of practice for a five-year period immediately preceding application for this examination. This statement must accompany the application when returning it to the department of health.

(6) Upon establishing examination eligibility, the department of health will mail to each applicant examination forms, instructions and schedule. It is imperative that the applicant bring this information to the examination as it will be used by the board throughout the practical examination.

WAC 246-818-050 Examination results. (1) In order to pass the examination, the applicant must pass the theory section and the practical section of the examination.

(2) Failure on two or more phases of the practical section under WAC 246-818-030 (1)(b) will require reexamination on the entire examination. An applicant who fails only one phase will be required to be reexamined only on the phase failed: Provided, That if the applicant who has failed only one phase has not taken and passed the failed phase by the next examination administration offered, then the entire practical section must be retaken.

(3) Applicants who fail the examination, or a phase of the examination, as provided in subsection (2) of this section may apply for reexamination by completing an application and submitting the appropriate fee to the division of professional licensing.

(4) An applicant who fails to appear for examination at the designated time and place shall forfeit the examination fee, unless he or she has notified the department of health at least thirty days prior to the scheduled examination of his or her inability to appear. If an applicant notifies the department thirty days or more prior to the designated examination date that he or she will not be appearing, the examination fee will be carried over only to the next regularly scheduled examination. Examination fees are nonrefundable.

(5) Beginning with the September 1989 Washington state dental examination, any applicant who fails to make the required grade by their fourth examination, over any period of time, will be required to complete an independent study in the area of examination deficiencies as directed and approved by the board of dental examiners. This applicant will only be allowed to apply for reexamination upon proof of successful completion of their independent study.

WAC 246-818-060 Practical examination review procedures. (1) Any candidate who takes the practical examination for licensure as a dentist and does not pass may request informal review by the examining board of his or her examination results. This request must be in writing and must be received by the department within twenty days of the postmark of notification of the examination results. The examining board will not set aside its prior determination unless the candidate shows, by a preponderance of evidence, significant error in examination procedure, or bias, prejudice, or discrimination in the examination process.

(2) The procedure for filing an informal review is as follows:

(a) Contact the department of health office in Olympia to request that copies of the score sheets on the failed practical portion of the examination be provided.

(b) The candidate will be provided a form to complete in defense of examination performance. Such form must be returned to the department within fifteen days.

(c) The candidate must specifically identify the challenged portion(s) of the examination and must state the specific reason or reasons why the candidate feels the results of the examination should be changed.

(d) The candidate will be identified only by candidate number for the purpose of this review. Letters of reference, requests for special consideration, or reexamination of the patient will not be considered by the examining board.

(e) The examining board will schedule a closed session meeting to review the examination, score sheets, and form completed by the candidate for the purpose of informal review.

(f) The candidate will be notified in writing of the results.

(3) Any candidate who is not satisfied with the result of the informal examination review may submit a written request for a formal hearing to be held before the examining board, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act. Such written request for hearing must be received by the department of health within twenty days of the postmark of the notification of the results of the board's informal review of the examination results. The written request must specifically identify the challenged portion(s) of the examination and must state the specific reason(s) why the candidate feels the results of the examination should be changed. The examining board will not set aside its prior determination unless the candidate shows, by a preponderance of evidence, significant error in examination procedure, or bias, prejudice, or discrimination in the examination process.

(4) Before the hearing is scheduled the parties shall attempt by informal means to resolve the following:

(5) In the event there is a prehearing conference, the administrative law judge or board member shall enter an order which sets forth the actions taken at the conference, the amendments allowed to the pleading, and the agreements made by the parties of their qualified representatives as to any of the matters considered, including the settlement or simplification of issues. The prehearing order limits the issues for hearing to those not disposed of by admissions or agreements. Such order shall control the subsequent course of the proceeding unless modified for good cause by subsequent prehearing order.

(6) Candidates will receive at least twenty days notice of the time and place of the formal hearing. The hearing will be restricted to the specific portion(s) of the examination the candidate has identified as the basis for his or her challenge of the examination results unless amended by a prehearing order. The board will not consider reexamination of the patient. The issues raised by the candidate at the formal hearing shall be limited to those issues raised by the candidate for consideration at the informal review unless amended by a prehearing order.

WAC 246-824-075 Continuing education requirements for dispensing opticians. Purpose and scope. The purpose of these requirements is to ensure the continued high quality of services provided by the licensed dispensing optician. Continuing education consists of educational activities designed to review existing concepts and techniques and conveys information and knowledge about advances in the field of opticianry, so as to keep the licensed dispensing opticians abreast of current and forecasted developments in a rapidly changing field.

(1) Basic requirements. As a prerequisite for license renewal, licensed dispensing opticians are required to have thirty hours of continuing education every three years. The credit hours will be measured as follows: Any single session covering not less than two hours and forty minutes will be assigned three credits; any single session covering not less than one hour and forty minutes will be assigned two credits; any single session covering not less than fifty minutes will be assigned one credit.

Fifteen of the credit hours shall relate to contact lenses.

Continuing education credit hours in excess of the required hours earned in any renewal period may not be carried forward to a subsequent renewal period.

(2) Effective date of requirement. The effective date of the continuing education requirement will be upon the 1994 license renewal date or three years after initial licensure in Washington state, whichever is later.

(3) Qualification of program for continuing education credit. Courses offered by the organizations and methods listed in this section will be presumed to qualify as continuing education courses. The secretary reserves the authority to refuse to accept credits in any course if the secretary determines that the course did not provide information sufficient in amount or relevancy to opticianry. Qualifying organizations and methods for the purposes of this section shall include in-class training, correspondence courses, video and/or audio tapes offered by any of the following:

- (a) American board of opticianry;
- (b) National academy of opticianry;

- (h) Opticianry colleges or universities approved by the secretary;
- (i) Speakers sponsored by any of the above organizations;
- (j) Any state or national opticianry association; and
- (k) Additional qualifying organizations or associations as approved by the secretary.

(4) Certification of compliance. Each licensee shall certify, on forms provided by the department, that the minimum continuing education and training requirements have been met. Each licensee shall be responsible for retaining copies of all records, certificates, or other evidence of continuing education course completion. In said documentation the licensee shall:

- (a) Keep records documenting attendance course title and course content.

(b) Be prepared to validate, through submission of these records, that attendance has taken place.

The department may, at its discretion, require any licensee to submit, in addition to the sworn certification, proof of completion of continuing education requirements. Failure to comply with the continuing education requirements will be cause for a license to lapse. Any licensee whose license has lapsed shall pay a late penalty fee as established by rule for each year the license has lapsed and submit evidence of continuing education requirement compliance. Any licensee whose license has lapsed for a period of two years or more may reinstate his or her license by paying an examination fee and successfully passing the examination provided in RCW 18.34.070.

WAC 246-828-040 Examination review and appeal procedures. (1) Each applicant who is administered the examination for licensure and does not pass any part of the examination will be provided information indicating the area of the examination in which the applicant was deficient with the notice of the examination results.

(2) Any applicant who does not pass a part of the examination may request an informal review by the council of his or her examination results. This request must be in writing and must be received by the department within thirty days of the postmark of the notice of examination results.

(3) The procedure for the informal review is as follows:

(a) An applicant submitting a written request for an informal review by the deadline described in subsection (2) of this section will be contacted by the department to arrange an appointment to appear personally in the Olympia office to review the part or parts of the examination failed.

(b) The applicant will be provided a form to complete in the Olympia office in defense of examination answers and/or examination performance.

(c) The applicant will be identified only by applicant number for the purpose of this procedure. Letters of reference or requests for special consideration will not be read or considered by the council.

(d) That applicant may bring textbooks or published material for use in completing the informal review, but such material must be retained by the Olympia office until the council has completed the informal review request submitted by the applicant.

(e) The applicant will not be allowed to take any notes or materials from the office upon leaving.

(f) The information submitted to the council for its consideration in the informal review must state the specific reason or reasons why the results of the examination should be changed. The council will not modify examination results unless the applicant can prove or show conclusive evidence of error in examination content or procedure, or bias, prejudice, or discrimination in the examination process. The council will not consider a challenge to the examination unless the total revised score including the questions or sections to be reviewed could result in a passing score in the examination.

(g) The council will schedule a closed session meeting to conduct the informal review of the material submitted by the applicant.

(h) The applicant will be notified in writing of the results of the informal review.

(4) Any applicant who is not satisfied with the result of the examination review may request that a formal hearing be held before the council pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act. Such a hearing request must be received by the department within thirty days of postmark of the notification of the result of the council's informal review of the applicant's examination results. The request must be in writing and must state the specific reasons why the results of the examination should be changed. The council will not modify examination results unless the applicant can prove or show conclusive evidence of error in examination content or procedure, or bias, prejudice, or discrimination in the examination process. The council will not consider a challenge to the examination unless the total revised score including the questions or sections to be reconsidered could result in a passing score in the examination.

(5) The hearing will not be scheduled until the applicant and the state's attorney have appeared before an administrative law judge for a prehearing conference to consider the following:

- (a) The simplification of issues;
- (b) The necessity of amendments to the notice of specific reasons for the examination result modification;
- (c) The possibility of obtaining stipulations, admission of facts and documents;
- (d) The limitation of the number of expert witnesses;
- (e) A schedule for completion of all discovery; and,

(7) Applicants will receive at least twenty days notice of the time and place of the formal hearing. The hearing will be restricted to the specific reasons the applicant has identified as the basis for a change in the examination score.

WAC 246-828-090 Standards for equipment calibration. All electronic equipment utilized by licensees for the determination of audiometric thresholds for pure tones and for speech shall conform to all current standards of the American National Standards Institute (at present, ANSI S3.6 - 1969). Licensees shall insure that all such audiometric equipment has been evaluated electrically and acoustically at least once each year, adjusted or repaired if necessary, and that conformity with such standards was determined at that time. Records of such calibration shall be permanently maintained by licensees and shall be available for inspection at any time by the department. No licensee shall be permitted to certify as to the calibration of his own equipment unless authorized to do so by the department. Specific inquiry should be made to determine if hearing loss has been sudden or rapidly progressive in the past ninety days, if there has been any active drainage or infection in ears during the past ninety days, and if there are any specific physical problems which may relate to the use of a hearing aid.

(2) Examination of the ears should be done to reasonably determine if any of the following conditions exist:

(a) Impacted ear wax.

(c) Hearing testing shall be conducted in the appropriate environment as required by WAC 308-50-110, minimum standards of equipment, or as otherwise required by this chapter.

(d) When puretone audiometry indicates an air-bone gap of 15db or more, 500, 1000, and 2000 Hz, the presence of unilateral hearing loss, or any inconsistent audiometric findings, the client shall be advised of the potential help available through medical treatment. Should the client decline to consider such methods, or if the client has previously been appropriately treated or has been advised against such procedures, an appropriate notation shall be made in the client's record.

(e) In the event a client is referred to a licensee by an M.A. audiologist, otologist, otolaryngologist, or by a fitter/dispenser duly licensed under chapter 18.35 RCW, and the audiometric results obtained within the previous six months are provided to the licensee as a part of this referral, the applicable provisions of WAC 308-50-130 shall not be required. However, a confirmatory audiometric examination is recommended.

(4) Medical evaluation requirements:

(a) If the prospective hearing aid user is eighteen years of age or older, the hearing aid dispenser may afford the prospective user an opportunity to waive the medical evaluation requirements of (b) of this subsection provided that the hearing aid dispenser:

(i) Informs the prospective user that the exercise of the waiver is not in the user's best health interest;

(ii) Does not in any way actively encourage the prospective user to waive such a medical evaluation;

(iii) Affords the prospective user the opportunity to sign the following statement:

(e) Provide adequate instructions and appropriate post-fitting adjustments to ensure the most successful use of the hearing aid.

(6) Keeping records on every client to whom the licensee renders service in connection with the dispensing of a hearing aid. Such records shall be preserved for at least three years after the dispensing of the first hearing aid to the client. If other hearing aids are subsequently dispensed to that client, cumulative records must be maintained for at least three years after the latest dispensing of an aid to that client. The records must be available for the department inspection and will include:

(a) Client's case history.

(b) Source of referral and appropriate documents.

(c) Medical clearance for the hearing aid user or the waiver set forth in subsection (4)(a)(iii) of this section which has been signed after being fully informed that it is in the best health interest to seek medical evaluation.

WAC 246-828-110 Bait advertising. It shall be unethical to engage in bait advertising. In determining whether there has been a violation of this rule, consideration will be given to acts or practices indicating that the offer was not made in good faith for the purpose of selling the advertised product or service, but was made for the purpose of contacting prospective purchasers and selling them a product, service or products other than the product or service offered. In addition to the procedures outlined in chapter 18.35 RCW, other acts or practices which are considered bait advertising include:

(1) The creation, through the initial offer or advertisement, of a false impression of the product offered in any material respect;

(2) The refusal to show, demonstrate, or sell the product offered in accordance with the terms of the offer;

(3) The disparagement, by acts or words, of the product offered, or the disparagement of the guarantee, credit terms, availability of service, repairs or parts, or in any other respect, in connection with it;

(4) The showing, demonstrating, and in the event of sale, the delivery, of a product which is unusable or impractical for the purpose represented or implied in the offer;

(5) The refusal, in the event of sale of the product offered, to deliver such product to the buyer within a reasonable time thereafter; and

(6) The failure to have available a quantity of the advertised product at the advertised price sufficient to meet reasonably anticipated demands.

It is not necessary that each act or practice set forth above be present in order to establish that a particular offer is violative of this rule.

WAC 246-828-120 Unfair or deceptive practices, unethical conduct and unfair methods of competition--Misrepresenting products, services, personnel or material

facts. It shall be an unfair or deceptive practice, unethical conduct or unfair method of competition for a licensee to misrepresent:

(1) The grade, quality, quantity, origin, novelty, price, cost, terms of sale, use, construction, size, composition, dimensions, type, design, development, visibility, durability, performance, fit, appearance, efficacy, benefits, cost of operation, resistance to climatic conditions, or physiological benefits of any hearing aid or the psychological well-being induced by a hearing aid;

(2) Any service or adjustment offered, promised, or to be supplied to purchasers of any hearing aid;

(3) Any material fact pertaining to the manufacture, distribution or marketing of any hearing aid; or

(4) The scientific or technical knowledge, training, experience or other qualifications of a licensee, or of his employees, relating to the selection, fitting, adjustment, maintenance or repair of industry products;

(5) Misrepresent shall mean making misleading, deceiving, improbable or untruthful representations or in any other material respect, the character, extent or type of his/her business except as provided in WAC 308-50-170.

(6) The reparability, including the cost thereof, or the adequacy of a prospective purchaser's own hearing aid(s) or ancillary equipment.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.35.161, 91-11-031 (Order 165B), recodified as § 246-828-120, filed 5/8/91, effective 6/8/91; 84-19-018 (Order PL 478), § 308-50-150, filed 9/12/84; Order PL 159, § 308-50-150, filed 2/8/74.]

WAC 246-828-130 Unfair or deceptive practices, unethical conduct and unfair methods of competition--Guarantees and warranties. It shall be an unfair or deceptive practice, unethical conduct or unfair method of competition for a licensee to represent in advertising or otherwise that a hearing aid is "guaranteed" without clear and conspicuous disclosure of:

(1) The nature and extent of the guarantee, and

(2) Any material conditions or limitations in the guarantee which are imposed by the guarantor, and

(3) The manner in which the guarantor will perform thereunder, and

(4) The identity of the guarantor. (The necessary disclosure requires that any guarantee made by the licensee which is not backed up by the manufacturer must clearly state that the guarantee is offered by the licensee only.)

Representations that a hearing aid is "guaranteed for life" or has a "lifetime guarantee," in addition to meeting the above requirements, shall contain a conspicuous disclosure of the meaning of "life" or "lifetime" as used (whether that of the purchaser, the product or otherwise).

Guarantees shall not be used which under normal conditions are impractical of fulfillment or which are for such a period of time or are otherwise of such nature as may have the tendency to mislead purchasers or prospective purchasers into the belief that the hearing aid so guaranteed has a greater degree of serviceability, durability or performance capability in actual use than is true in fact.

This rule has application not only to "guarantees" but also to "warranties," to purported "guarantees" and "warranties," and to any promise or representation in the nature of a "guarantee" or "warranty."

- (1) That the services or advice of a physician have been used in the designing or manufacturing of hearing aids or in the selection, fitting, adjustment, maintenance or repair of hearing aids.
- (2) The prohibitions of this rule are applicable to the use of the terms "doctor," "physician," "otologist" or "otolaryngologist"; to any abbreviations, variations or derivatives of such terms; and to the use of any symbol, depiction, or representation having a medical or osteopathic connotation.

WAC 246-828-160 Unfair or deceptive practices, unethical conduct and unfair methods of competition-- Use of words "prescription," "diagnosis," etc. It shall be an unfair or deceptive practice, unethical conduct or unfair method of competition for a licensee to use, in advertising or otherwise, the words "prescribe," "prescription," "diagnose," "diagnosis," or "diagnostic" or any abbreviation, variation or derivative thereof or symbol therefor, in his business name or in referring to or describing his service, business, business activity or any industry product, unless such licensee is a licensed physician or such licensee clearly reveals that the use of such term(s) refers to a function or action or activity which has been or will be performed only by a licensed physician.

WAC 246-836-060 Examination appeals. (1) Any candidate who takes the licensure examination and does not pass may request informal review of his or her examination results. This request must be in writing and must be received by the department within thirty days of the date of service of notification of the examination results. The department will not set aside its prior determination unless the candidate shows, by a preponderance of evidence, error in examination content or procedure, or bias, prejudice, or discrimination in the examination process. The department will not consider any challenges to examination scores unless the total revised score could result in issuance of a license.

(2) The procedure for filing an informal review is as follows:

(a) Contact the department of health office in Olympia for an appointment to appear personally to review questions answered incorrectly and the incorrect answers on the written portion of failed examination.

(b) The candidate will be provided a form to complete in the department of health office in Olympia in defense of examination answers.

(c) The candidate must specifically identify the challenged portion(s) of the examination and must state the specific reason or reasons why the candidate feels the results of the examination should be changed.

(d) The candidate will be identified only by candidate number for the purpose of this review. Letters of reference or requests for special consideration will not be read or considered by the department.

(e) The candidate may not bring in notes, texts, or resource material for use while completing the informal review form.

(f) The candidate will not be allowed to take any notes or materials from the office upon leaving.

(g) The department will schedule a closed session meeting to review the examinations, score sheets and forms completed by the candidate for the purpose of informal review.

(h) The candidate will be notified in writing of the results.

(3) Any candidate who is not satisfied with the result of the informal examination review may submit a written request for a formal hearing to be held before an administrative law judge. The hearing will be conducted pursuant to the administrative procedures act. The issues raised by the candidate at the formal hearing shall be limited to those issues raised by the candidate for consideration at the informal review unless amended by a prehearing order. Such written request for hearing must be received by the department of health within twenty days of the date of service of the result of the department's informal review of the examination results. The written request must specifically identify the challenged portion(s) of the examination and must state the specific reason(s) why the candidate feels the results of the examination should be changed. The department will not set aside its prior determination unless the candidate shows, by a preponderance of evidence, error in examination content or procedure, or bias, prejudice, or discrimination in the examination process. The department will not consider any challenges to examination scores unless the total revised score could result in issuance of a license.

(4) Before the hearing is scheduled either party may request a prehearing conference before an administrative law judge to consider the following:

(a) The simplification of issues;

(b) Amendments to the candidate's notice identifying the challenged portion(s) of the examination and the statement of the specific reason(s) why the candidate feels the results of the examination should be changed;

(c) The possibility of obtaining stipulations, admission of facts and documents;

(d) The limitation of the number of expert witnesses;

(e) A schedule for completion of all discovery; and,

(5) In the event there is a prehearing conference, the administrative law judge shall enter an order which sets forth the actions taken at the conference, the amendments allowed to the pleading and the agreements made by the parties of their qualified representatives as to any of the matters considered, including the settlement or simplification of issues. The prehearing order limits the issues for hearing to those not disposed of by admissions or agreements. Such order shall control the subsequent course of the proceeding unless modified for good cause by subsequent prehearing order.

(6) Candidates will receive at least twenty days notice of the time and place of the formal hearing. The hearing will be restricted to the specific portion(s) of the examination the candidate has identified as the bases for his or her challenge of the examination results unless amended by a prehearing order.

(4) Any licensee failing to renew his or her license within one year from expiration must reapply for licensing in accordance with the section of this chapter pertaining to license reinstatement.

(3) It is the responsibility of the licensee to maintain appropriate records or evidence of compliance with the continuing education requirement. The department may, in its discretion require any licensee to submit, in addition to the sworn certification, proof of completion of continuing education requirements.

(4) A material false statement on the sworn certification, or failure to provide proof of completion of continuing education requirements when proof is required in the department's discretion, is grounds for disciplinary action, including but not limited to, suspension, revocation, or nonrenewal of the license.

(5) Continuing education hours in excess of the required hours earned in any renewal period may not be carried forward to a subsequent renewal period.

(6) In emergency situations, such as personal or family illness, the department may in its discretion, for good cause shown, waive all or part of the continuing education requirement for a particular one year period for an individual licensee. The remainder, if any, may be preceptorships overseen by the college. The clinical training shall be in naturopathic procedures. WAC 246-839-010 Definitions. (1) "Board" means the Washington state board of nursing.

(2) "School" means an educational unit charged with the responsibility of preparing persons to practice as registered nurses. Three types of basic schools of nursing are distinguished by the certificate awarded to the graduate. Schools of nursing within colleges and universities award the associate degree or baccalaureate degree.

Schools of nursing sponsored by a hospital award a diploma.

(3) "Provisional approval" of schools of nursing is the approval given a new school of nursing based on its proposed program prior to the admission of its first class.

(4) "Full approval" of a school of nursing is the approval given a school of nursing that meets the requirements of the law and the rules and regulations of the board.

(5) "Conditional approval" of a school of nursing is the approval given a school of nursing that has failed to meet the requirements of the law and the rules and regulations of the board, and it specifies conditions that must be met within a designated time to rectify the failure.

(6) An "unapproved school of nursing" is a school of nursing that has been removed from the list of approved schools for failure to meet the requirements of the law and the rules and regulations of the board or a school that has never been approved by the board.

(7) "Extended learning sites" refers to any area external to the parent organization selected by faculty for student learning experiences.

(8) "Faculty" means persons who are responsible for the educational program of the school of nursing and who hold faculty appointment in the school.

(9) "Nursing student" is a person currently enrolled in an approved school of nursing.

(10) The phrase "nursing aide" used in RCW 18.88.280(3) shall mean a "nursing technician." "Nursing technician" is a nursing student currently enrolled in a state board of nursing approved nursing education program and employed for the purpose of giving help, assistance and support in the performance of those services which constitute the practice of registered nursing. The nursing student shall use the title "nursing technician" while employed.

(11) "Registered nurse" as used in these rules shall mean a nurse as defined by RCW 18.88.170.

(12) "Nurse administrator" is an individual who meets the qualifications contained in WAC 246-839-555 and who has been designated as the person primarily responsible for the direction of the program in nursing. Titles for this position may include, among others, dean, director, coordinator or chairperson.

(13) "Definition of terms appearing in RCW 18.88-.280" — the terms "direction and supervision," "auxiliary services," and "minor nursing services" are defined as follows:

(a) "Minor nursing services." The techniques and procedures used by the nursing profession are extremely difficult to categorize as major or minor nursing services. The important factor with which this law is concerned is the determination of which nursing person and at what level of preparation that person may perform said technique or procedure in relation to the condition of a given patient, and this kind of determination rests with the registered nurse.

(b) "Auxiliary services" are all those nursing services provided to patients by persons other than the registered nurse, the licensed practical nurse and the nursing student.

(c) "Supervision" of licensed or unlicensed nursing personnel means the provision of guidance and evaluation by a qualified registered nurse for the accomplishment of a nursing task or activity with the initial direction of the task or activity; periodic inspection of the actual act of accomplishing the task or activity; and the authority to require corrective action.

(i) "Immediate supervision" shall mean the licensed registered nurse is on the premises and is within audible and visual range of the patient and the patient has been assessed by the licensed registered nurse prior to the delegation of duties to any care giver.

(ii) "Direct supervision" shall mean the licensed registered nurse is on the premises, is quickly and easily available and the patient has been assessed by the licensed registered nurse prior to the delegation of the duties to any care giver.

(iii) "Indirect supervision" shall mean the licensed registered nurse is not on the premises but has given either written or oral instructions for the care and treatment of the patient and the patient has been assessed by the licensed registered nurse prior to the delegation of duties to any care giver.

(iv) "Consulting capacity" shall mean the recommendations to a professional entity, employed at that facility, which may be accepted, rejected, or modified. These recommendations shall not be held out as providing nursing services by the consulting nurse to the patient or public.

(14) "Delegation" means the licensed registered nurse transfers the performance of selected nursing tasks to competent individuals in selected situations. The licensed registered nurse delegating the task retains the responsibility and accountability for the nursing care of the client.

(a) Nursing acts delegated by the licensed registered nurse shall:

(i) Be within the area of responsibility of the nurse delegating the act;

(ii) Be such that, in the opinion of the nurse, it can be properly and safely performed by the person without jeopardizing the patient welfare;

(iii) Be acts that a reasonable and prudent nurse would find are within the scope of sound nursing judgment.

(b) Nursing acts delegated by the licensed registered nurse shall not require the unlicensed person to exercise nursing judgment nor perform acts which must only be performed by a licensed nurse, except in an emergency situation (RCW 18.88.280(2)).

(c) When delegating a nursing act to an unlicensed individual, the nurse shall:

(i) Make an assessment of the patient's nursing care need before delegating the task;

(ii) Instruct the unlicensed person in the delegated task or verify competency to perform or be assured that the person is competent to perform the nursing task as a result of the systems in place by the health care agency;

(iii) Supervise and evaluate the performance of the unlicensed person;

(iv) Retain responsibility and accountability for the nursing care of the patient, including nursing assessment, evaluation, and assuring documentation;

(v) Recognize that some nursing interventions require nursing knowledge, judgment, and skill and therefore may not lawfully be delegated to unlicensed persons.

(15) "Acquired immunodeficiency syndrome" or "AIDS" means the clinical syndrome of HIV-related illnesses as defined by the board of health by rule.

(16) "Office on AIDS" means a section within the department of social and health services or any successor department with jurisdiction over public health matters as defined in chapter 70.24 RCW.

WAC 246-839-505 Philosophy governing approval of nursing education programs. While the board herein has established minimum standards for approved schools of nursing, it believes that each school of nursing should have flexibility in developing and implementing its philosophy, purposes, and objectives. Such development and implementation should be based not only upon the minimum standards for approved schools of nursing, but also upon sound educational and professional principles for the preparation of registered nurses to meet current and future nursing needs of the public. The board believes that there must be congruence between the total program activities of the school of nursing and its stated philosophy, purpose and objectives.

The board further believes that the minimum standards for approved schools of nursing can be useful to schools of nursing by promoting self-evaluation which may lead to program development and improvement.

(1) The commission of any act involving moral turpitude, dishonesty, or corruption relating to the practice of the person's profession, whether the act constitutes a crime or not. If the act constitutes a crime, conviction in a criminal proceeding is not a condition precedent to disciplinary action. Upon such a conviction, however, the judgment and sentence is conclusive evidence at the ensuing disciplinary hearing of the guilt of the license holder or applicant of the crime described in the indictment or information, and of the person's violation of the statute on which it is based. For the purposes of this section, conviction includes all instances in which a plea of guilty or nolo contendere is the basis for the conviction and all proceedings in which the sentence has been deferred or suspended. Nothing in this section abrogates rights guaranteed under chapter 9.96A RCW;

(2) Misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact in obtaining a license or in reinstatement thereof;

(3) All advertising which is false, fraudulent, or misleading;

(4) Incompetence, negligence, or actions in the practice of the profession which result in, or have a significant likelihood of resulting in, harm to the patient or public;

(6) The possession, use, addiction to, prescription for use, diversion, or distribution of controlled substances or legend drugs in any way other than for legitimate or therapeutic purposes, or violation of any drug law;

(7) Violation of any state or federal statute or administrative rule regulating the profession in question, including any statute or rule defining or establishing standards of patient care or professional conduct or practice;

(8) Failure to cooperate with the disciplining authority by:

(a) Not furnishing any papers or documents;

(b) Not furnishing in writing a full and complete explanation covering the matter contained in the complaint filed with the disciplining authority; or

(c) Not responding to subpoenas issued by the disciplining authority, whether or not the recipient of the subpoena is the accused in the proceeding;

(9) Failure to comply with an order issued by the disciplining authority;

(10) Aiding or abetting an unlicensed person to practice when a license is required;

(11) Willful or repeated violations of rules established by any health agency or authority of the state or a political subdivision thereof;

(12) Practice beyond the scope of practice as defined by law;

(15) Engaging in a profession involving contact with the public while suffering from a contagious or infectious disease involving serious risk to public health;

(16) Promotion for personal gain of any unnecessary or inefficacious drug, device, treatment, procedure, or service;

(17) Conviction of any gross misdemeanor or felony relating to the practice of the person's profession. For the purposes of this subsection, conviction includes all instances in which a plea of guilty or nolo contendere is the basis for conviction and all proceedings in which the sentence has been deferred or suspended. Nothing in this section abrogates rights guaranteed under chapter 9.96A RCW;

(18) The offering, undertaking, or agreeing to cure or treat disease by a secret method, procedure, treatment, or medicine, or the treating, operating, or prescribing for any health condition by a method, means, or procedure which the licensee refuses to divulge upon demand of the disciplining authority;

(19) Violation of chapter 19.68 RCW;

(20) Interference with an investigation or disciplinary proceeding by wilful misrepresentation of facts before the disciplining authority or its authorized representative, or by the use of threats or harassment against any patient or witness to prevent them from providing evidence in a disciplinary proceeding or any other legal action;

(21) Any mental or physical condition which results in, or has a significant likelihood of resulting in, an inability to practice with reasonable skill and safety to consumers.

WAC 246-851-300 Renting space from and practicing on premises of commercial (mercantile) concern. Where a doctor of optometry rents or buys space from and practices optometry on the premises of a commercial or mercantile concern:

(1) The practice must be owned by the doctor of optometry solely or in conjunction with other licensed doctors of optometry, and in every phase be under the exclusive control of the doctor(s) of optometry. The prescription files must be the sole property of the doctor(s) of optometry.

(2) The space must be definite and distinct from space occupied by other occupants of the premises and by the commercial or mercantile concern itself.

(3) All signs, advertising and display must be separate and distinct from that of the other occupants and of the commercial or mercantile concern itself, and have the name of the doctor(s) of optometry and the words "doctor of optometry" prominently displayed in connection therewith. Any verbal or spoken advertisement or announcement advertising an optometrist on the premises of a commercial or mercantile concern shall not make references which could reasonably convey the impression that the optometric practice is controlled by or part of the commercial or mercantile concern.

(4) There must be displayed on any part of the premises occupied by the doctor of optometry or in any advertising of such doctor of optometry no legends such as "optical department," "optical center," "optometrical department," or any others which could reasonably convey the impression that the optometric practice is controlled by or part of the commercial or mercantile concern.

(6) A written notice, of a size and type reasonably expected to attract the attention of the public, shall be put in a conspicuous place where the public will be exposed to it before professional services have been contracted for; this notice shall, in plain and simple terms, explain the relationship between the doctor of optometry and the commercial concern. The notice must express that the doctor of optometry is not controlled by the commercial concern in his professional practices, and must clearly describe the amount of responsibility that the commercial concern takes for the professional services rendered by the doctor of optometry.

Examples follow; these are not exhaustive:

John Smith, O.D., is a lessee, not an employee, of the store. He is solely responsible for his professional activities.

The store accepts no responsibility for the actions of John Smith, O.D., its lessee.

John Smith, O.D., is a lessee of the store, not an employee. As a part of the lease, he has agreed to follow the store's policy of "guaranteed satisfaction or your money back." (Obviously, only if this is true.)

Washington law prohibits the store from controlling or owning the practice of a licensed doctor of optometry. Accordingly, the store can assume no responsibility for Dr. Smith's professional services.

The store is responsible for filling your optical prescription. It is not responsible for the professional services of Dr. Smith, its lessee. (If the store operates the optical dispensary.)

Such identification must include the name of the licensee in letters at least two inches high, at or near the entrance to the licensee's office.

If an owner of all or part of a practice does not engage in optometry on a regular basis at that location, his name and address in letters at least two inches high must be clearly visible to patients at or near the entrance to the location. To engage in optometry "on a regular basis" means to practice at a particular location at regular, periodic intervals, information of which is readily available to the public.

Statutory Authority: RCW 18.57.005.

WAC 246-855-030 Acupuncture--Program approval. (1) Procedure. The board will consider for approval any school, program, apprenticeship or tutorial which meets the requirements outlined in this regulation and provides the training required under WAC 246-855-020 - Acupuncture assistant education. Approval may be granted to an individual registration applicant's training, or to existing institutions which operate on a continuing basis. Clinical and didactic training may be approved as separate programs or as a joint program. The program approval process is as follows:

(a) Programs seeking approval shall file an application with the board in the format required by the board.

(b) The board will review the application and determine whether a site review is necessary (in the case of an institution) or an interview is appropriate (in the case of individual training) or approval may be granted on the basis of the application alone.

(c) The site review committee shall consist of two board members and one member of the board staff. The review committee may visit the program any time during school operating hours. The committee will report to the board in writing concerning the program's compliance with each section of the regulations.

(d) After reviewing all of the information collected concerning a program; the board may grant or deny approval, or grant approval conditional upon program modifications being made. In the event of denial or conditional approval, the program may request a hearing before the board. No approval shall be extended to an institution for more than three years, at which time a request for reapproval may be made.

(e) The board expects approved programs to not make changes which will result in the program not being in compliance with the regulations. Programs must notify the board concerning significant changes in administration, faculty or curriculum. The board may inspect the school at reasonable intervals to check for compliance. Program approval may be withdrawn, after a hearing, if the board finds the program no longer in compliance with the regulations.

(2) Didactic faculty. Didactic training may only be provided by persons who meet the criteria for faculty as stated in the council for postsecondary education's WAC 250-55-090 - Personal qualifications. Under no circumstances will an unregistered instructor perform or supervise the performance of acupuncture.

(3) Clinical faculty. Clinical training may be provided only by persons who meet the following criteria:

(a) The instructor must be a practitioner who has had a minimum of five years of full time acupuncture practice experience.

(b) If the training is conducted in this state, the practitioner must be registered to practice in this state. In the case of a school or program, the approval of the institution will include a review of the instructor's qualifications and the training arrangements. Approval of the instructors will extend to instruction conducted within the program.

(c) For training not conducted in this state to be acceptable, the instructor must be licensed by a state or country with equivalent license standards.

(4) Supervision of training. Clinical training in this state must be conducted under the general supervision of the instructor's sponsoring physician. During any given clinic period, the acupuncture instructor may not supervise more than four students. The number of students present during an observation session should be limited according to the judgment of the instructor. Supervision by the instructor during clinical training must be direct: Each diagnosis and treatment must be done with the knowledge and concurrence of the instructor. During at least the first 100 treatments, the instructor must be in the room during treatment. Thereafter, the instructor must at least be in the facility, available for consultation and assistance. An osteopathic physician may only supervise two acupuncture assistance instructors per clinical instruction period.

that certain matters shall not be inquired into, or that the scope of the examination shall be limited to certain matters, or that the examination shall be limited to certain matters, or that the examination shall be held with no one present except the parties to the action and their officers or counsel, or that after being sealed, the deposition shall be opened only by order of the board, or that business secrets or secret processes, developments, or research need not be disclosed, or that the parties shall simultaneously file specified documents or information enclosed in sealed envelopes to be opened as directed by the board; or the board may make any other order which justice requires to protect the party or witness from annoyance, embarrassment, or oppression. At any time during the taking of the deposition, on motion of any party or of the deponent and upon a showing that the examination is being conducted in bad faith or in such manner as unreasonably to annoy, embarrass, or oppress the deponent or party, the board or its designated hearing officer may order the officer conducting the examination to cease forthwith from taking the deposition, or may limit the scope and manner of the taking of the deposition as above provided. If the order made terminates the examination, it shall be resumed thereafter only upon the order of the board. Upon demand of the objecting party or deponent, the taking of the deposition shall be suspended for the time necessary to make a motion for an order.

Any changes in form or substance which the witness desires to make shall be entered upon the deposition by the officer with a statement of the reasons given by the witness for making them. The deposition shall then be signed by the witness, unless the parties by stipulation waive the signing or the witness is ill or cannot be found or refuses to sign. If the deposition is not signed by the witness, the officer shall sign it and state on the record the fact of the waiver or of the illness or absence of the witness or the fact of the refusal to sign together with the reason, if any, given therefor; and the deposition may then be used as fully as though signed, unless on a motion to suppress the board holds that the reasons given for the refusal to sign require rejection of the deposition in whole or in part.

The officer shall certify on the deposition that the witness was duly sworn by him and that the deposition is a true record of the testimony given by the witness. He shall then securely seal the deposition in an envelope indorsed with the title of proceeding and marked "Deposition of (here insert name of witness)" and shall promptly send it by registered or certified mail to the board, or its designated hearing officer, for filing. The party taking the deposition shall give prompt notice of its filing to all other parties. WAC 246-861-080 Credit for individual study programs. (1) Individual study programs of various types may be counted for continuing education credit. The amount of such credit which can be applied toward meeting the annual continuing education requirement will depend on whether the provider evaluates the users' mastery of the subject material.

(2) Self-instruction units such as audio tapes, video cassettes or audio tapes/slides may be counted on the basis of one hour of credit for each hour of actual viewing or listening time, provided there is a procedure conducted by the provider which evaluates learning and retention of information by the user. To obtain such credit, the pharmacist must be able to provide a certificate supplied by the program provider that he or she has satisfactorily achieved the goals of the learning unit.

(3) Correspondence courses available from recognized academic institutions which cover appropriate topics will be awarded continuing education credit on the basis of ten hours per unit credit awarded by the institution. (4) In cases where a user evaluation is not included as part of the self-instruction unit, credit will be accepted only to the extent of five hours of the total annual hours of continuing education requirement. Nonevaluated self-instruction includes programs such as audio tapes, video tapes, slide/tape programs, texts or journals. To obtain credit for a nonevaluated self-instruction program, a form approved by the Washington state board of pharmacy must be filled out and returned to the board office. For articles, tapes, and related types of learning units, one hour of credit may be claimed for each hour of reading, viewing, or listening time. The board may waive the five hours maximum credit allowable on good cause shown in an individual case.

(2) Since individual pharmacist audits will usually be retrospective, it is recognized that disallowed credit may work hardship on the pharmacist involved. In cases where a pharmacist is audited and some or all credit is disallowed, the continuing education requirement for the following year will be increased by the amount of hours disallowed.

(3) A pharmacist who is audited and has credit disallowed will automatically be audited for three consecutive years. pharmacy is located within a larger mercantile establishment which is open to the public for business at times when a pharmacist is not present then the pharmacy must be enclosed by solid partitions at least seven feet in height, from the floor, which are sufficient to provide adequate security for the pharmacy. In the absence of a pharmacist such pharmacies must be locked and secured so that only persons authorized by the pharmacist can gain access, provided however that employees of the mercantile establishment cannot be authorized to enter the closed pharmacy during those hours that the mercantile establishment is open to the public for business.

(2) All equipment and records referred to in WAC 360-16-230 and all drugs, devices, poisons and other items or products which are restricted to sale either by or under the personal supervision of a pharmacist must be kept in the pharmacy area.

(3) Written prescription orders and refill request can be delivered to a pharmacy at any time. But if no pharmacist is present then the prescription orders must be deposited, by the patient or his agent delivering the prescription order or refill request to the establishment, into a "mail slot" or "drop box" such that the prescription order is stored in the pharmacy area. The times that the pharmacy is open for business must be so displayed that they are prominently visible to the person depositing the prescription orders.

(4) Prescriptions shall be stored in the pharmacy and cannot be removed from the pharmacy unless the pharmacist is present and the removal is for the immediate delivery to the patient, person picking up the prescription for the patient, or person delivering the prescription to the patient at his residence or similar place.

(5) No drugs, devices, poisons and other items or products which are restricted to sale either by or under the personal supervision of a pharmacist can be sold or delivered without a pharmacist being present in the pharmacy.

(6) Any pharmacy having hours differing from the remainder of an establishment shall have a separate and distinct telephone number from that business establishment. The phone shall not be answerable in the remainder if the establishment unless all conversations, when the pharmacist is absent, are recorded and played back by the pharmacist.

(7) Oral prescriptions cannot be taken if a pharmacist is not present unless it is taken on a recording which must inform the caller as to the times the pharmacy is open.

(8) A pharmacy must prominently display in a permanent manner on or adjacent to its entrance the times that it is open for business. If a pharmacy is located within a larger mercantile establishment having hours of operation different from the pharmacy then the pharmacy times of being open for business shall be prominently displayed in a permanent manner at the pharmacy area and on or adjacent to the entrance to the mercantile establishment.

(9) Any advertising by the mercantile establishment which makes reference to the pharmacy or those products which are sold only in the pharmacy which in such advertising sets forth the days and hours that the mercantile establishment is open to the public for business must also indicate the days and hours that the pharmacy is open to the public for business.

(10) Any person desiring to operate a pharmacy within an establishment having hours of business differing from the pharmacy must notify the board of pharmacy at least thirty days prior to commencing such differential hours. In order to constitute notification the applicant must complete the file forms provided by the board providing the required information. Board inspection and approval must be completed prior to the commencing of such differential hours. Such inspection and approval or disapproval shall be within 10 days of receiving notification that the premises are ready for inspection. Approval or disapproval shall be predicated upon compliance with this rule and pharmacy standards under chapter 360-16 WAC.

WAC 246-875-001 Purpose. The purpose of this chapter shall be to insure that a patient medical record system is maintained by all pharmacies and other sites where the dispensing of drugs takes place, in order to insure the health and welfare of the patients served. This system will consist of certain patient and prescription information, and shall provide the pharmacist within the pharmacy means to retrieve all new prescription and refill prescription information relevant to patients of the pharmacy. It shall be designed to provide adequate safeguards against the improper manipulation or alteration of records, and to provide an audit trail. It may be either a manual system or an automated data processing system for the storage and retrieval of prescription and patient information. If an automated data processing system is utilized, an auxiliary recordkeeping procedure shall be available for documentation of new and refill prescriptions in case the automated system is inoperative for any reason. Establishment of a patient medication record system is intended to insure that the information it contains will be reviewed by the pharmacist in a manner consistent with sound professional practice when each prescription is filled.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-875-001, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 84-03-016 (Order 181), § 360-19-010, filed 1/9/84.]

WAC 246-875-010 Definitions. Terms used in this chapter shall have the meaning set forth in this section unless the context clearly indicates otherwise:

(1) "Address" means the place of residence of the patient.

(2) "Audit trail" means all materials and documents required for the entire process of filling a prescription, which shall be sufficient to document or reconstruct the origin of the prescription order, and authorization of subsequent modifications of that order.

(3) "Auxiliary recordkeeping procedure" means a back-up procedure used to record medication record system data in case of scheduled or unscheduled downtime of an automated data processing system.

(4) "Hard copy of the original prescription" shall include the prescription as defined in RCW 18.64.011(8) and/or the medical records or chart.

(5) "Therapeutic duplication" means two or more drugs in the same pharmacological or therapeutic category which when used together may have an additive or synergistic effect.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-875-010, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 84-03-016 (Order 181), § 360-19-020, filed 1/9/84.]

WAC 246-875-020 Minimum required information in an automated patient medication record system. An automated patient medication record system is an electronic system that must have the capability of capturing any data removed on a hard copy of microfiche copy. The hard copy of the original prescription and all documents in the audit trail shall be considered a part of this system.

(1) All automated patient medication record systems must maintain the following information with regard to ambulatory patients:

(a) Patient's full name and address.

(e) The name, strength, dosage form and quantity of the drug dispensed.

(f) Any refill instructions by the prescriber.

(g) The prescriber's name, address, and DEA number where required.

(h) The complete directions for use of the drug. The term "as directed" is prohibited pursuant to RCW 18.64.246 and 69.41.050.

(i) Any patient allergies, idiosyncrasies, or chronic condition which may relate to drug utilization. If there is no patient allergy data the pharmacist should indicate none or "NKA" (no known allergy) on the patient medication record.

(j) Authorization for other than child-resistant containers pursuant to WAC 360-16-270, if applicable.

(2) All automated patient medication record systems must maintain the following information with regard to institutional patients:

(a) Patient's full name.

(iii) Stop date and time when appropriate.

(iv) Amount dispensed when appropriate.

(h) The system shall indicate any special medication status for an individual prescription, for example, on hold, discontinued, self-administration medication, investigational drugs, patient's own medications, special administration times, restrictions, controlled substances.

(i) The system shall indicate on the labeling, and in the system, (for the pharmacist, nursing and/or physician alert) any special cautionary alerts or notations deemed necessary by the dispenser for the patient safety.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-875-020, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 84-03-016 (Order 181), § 360-19-030, filed 1/9/84.]

WAC 246-875-030 Minimum required information in a manual patient medication record system. A manual patient medication record system consists of the hard copy of the original prescription and a card or filing procedure that contains all data on new and refill prescriptions for a patient. This data must be organized in such a fashion that information relating to all prescription drugs used by a patient will be reviewed each time a prescription is filled.

(1) All manual patient medication record systems must maintain the following information with regard to ambulatory patients:

(a) Patient's full name and address.

(b) A serial number assigned to each new prescription.

(c) The date of all instances of dispensing a drug.

(d) The identification of the dispenser who filled the prescription.

(e) The name, strength, dosage form and quantity of the drug dispensed.

(f) The prescriber's name, address and DEA number where appropriate.

(g) Any patient allergies, idiosyncrasies or chronic conditions which may relate to drug utilization. If there is no patient allergy data the pharmacist should indicate none or "NKA" (no known allergy) on the patient medication record.

(2) All manual patient medication record systems must maintain the following information with regard to institutional patients:

(a) Patient's full name.

(b) Unique patient identifier.

(c) Any patient allergies, idiosyncrasies, or chronic conditions which may relate to drug utilization. If there is no patient allergy data the pharmacist should indicate none or "NKA" (no known allergy) on the patient medication record.

(d) Patient location.

(e) Patient status, for example, active, discharge, or on-pass.

(f) Prescriber's name, address and DEA number where required.

(g) Minimum prescription data elements:

(i) Drug name, dose, route, form, directions for use, prescriber.

(ii) Start date and time when appropriate.

(iii) Stop date and time when appropriate.

(iv) Amount dispensed when appropriate.

(h) The system shall indicate any special medication status for an individual prescription, for example, on hold, discontinued, self-administration medication, investigational drugs, patient's own medications, special administration times, restrictions, controlled substances.

(i) The system shall indicate on the labeling, and in the system, (for the pharmacist, nursing and/or physician alert) any special cautionary alerts or notations deemed necessary by the dispenser for the patient safety.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-875-030, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 84-03-016 (Order 181), § 360-19-040, filed 1/9/84.]

WAC 246-875-040 Minimum procedures for utilization of a patient medication record system. Upon receipt of a prescription or drug order, a dispenser must examine visually or via an automated data processing system, the patient's medication record to determine the possibility of a clinically significant drug interaction, the reaction or therapeutic duplication, and to determine improper utilization of the drug and to consult with the prescriber if needed. Any order modified in the system must carry in the audit trail the unique identifier of the person who modified the order. Any change in drug name, dose, route, dose form or directions for use which occurs after an initial dose has been given requires that a new order be entered into the system and the old order be discontinued, or that the changes be accurately documented in the record system, without destroying the original record or its audit trail.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-875-040, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 84-03-016 (Order 181), § 360-19-050, filed 1/9/84.]

WAC 246-875-050 Auxiliary recordkeeping procedure. If an automated data processing system is used to maintain a patient's medication record, an auxiliary recordkeeping procedure must be available for use when the automated data system is temporarily inoperative due to scheduled or unscheduled system interruption. The auxiliary recordkeeping procedure shall provide for the maintenance of all patient recordkeeping information as required by this chapter. Upon restoration of operation of the automated system the information placed in the auxiliary recordkeeping procedure shall be entered in each patient's records within two working days, after which the auxiliary records may be destroyed. This section does not require that a permanent dual recordkeeping system be maintained.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-875-050, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 84-03-016 (Order 181), § 360-19-060, filed 1/9/84.]

WAC 246-875-060 Retrieval of information from an automated system. All automated patient medication record systems must provide within 72 hours, via CRT or hard copy printout, the information required by WAC 360-19-030 and by 21 CFR § 1306.22(b) as amended July 1, 1980. Any data purged from an automated patient medication record system must be available within 72 hours.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-875-060, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 84-03-016 (Order 181), § 360-19-070, filed 1/9/84.]

WAC 246-875-070 Confidentiality and security of data. (1) Information contained in patient medication record systems shall be considered to be a part of prescription records maintained in accordance with RCW 18.64.245 and shall be maintained for a period of at least five years in the same manner as provided for all prescription records (see WAC 360-16-096).

(2) The information in the patient medication record system which identifies the patient shall be deemed confidential and may be released to persons other than the patient or a pharmacist, or a practitioner authorized to prescribe only on written release of the patient. If in the judgment of the dispenser, the prescription presented for dispensing is determined to cause a potentially harmful drug interaction or other problem due to a drug previously prescribed by another practitioner, the dispenser may communicate this information to the prescribers.

(3) Security codes or systems must be established on automated medication record systems to prevent unauthorized modification of data.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-875-070, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 84-03-016 (Order 181), § 360-19-080, filed 1/9/84.]

WAC 246-875-080 Extension of time for compliance. The rules regarding patient medication record systems contained in chapter 360-19 WAC shall apply to all pharmacists practicing pharmacy in the state of Washington upon the effective date of the chapter unless an extension is granted by the board pursuant to this rule. In order to seek an extension that will allow compliance with this chapter to be delayed, good cause for granting such extension must be shown. The board shall consider requests for extensions and if, in the board's judgment good cause is shown, the board may grant an extension for a period of time, specifying those portions of the rules with respect to which an extension is being granted.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-875-080, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 84-03-016 (Order 181), § 360-19-090, filed 1/9/84.]

WAC 246-875-090 Effective date. The effective date of this rule shall be March 1, 1984. All pharmacies must be in compliance after that date unless an extension has been granted by the board.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-875-090, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 84-03-016 (Order 181), § 360-19-100, filed 1/9/84.]

WAC 246-887-020 Uniform Controlled Substances Act. (1) Consistent with the concept of uniformity where possible with the federal regulations for controlled substances (21 CFR), the federal regulations are specifically made applicable to registrants in this state by virtue of RCW 69.50.306. Although those regulations are automatically applicable to registrants in this state, the board is nevertheless adopting as its own regulations the existing regulations of the federal government published in the Code of Federal Regulations revised as of April 1, 1989, and all references made therein to the director or the secretary shall have reference to the board of pharmacy, and the following sections are not applicable: Section 1301.11-.13, section 1301.31, section 1301.43-.57, section 1303, section 1308.41-.48, and section 1316.31-.67. The following specific rules shall take precedence over the federal rules adopted herein by reference, and therefore any inconsistencies shall be resolved in favor of the following specific rules.

(2) Registrations under chapter 69.50 RCW shall be for an annual period with the registration period ending on a date to coincide with those license renewal dates as found in rules promulgated under chapter 18.64 RCW.

(3) A separate registration is required for each place of business (as defined in section 1301.23) where controlled substances are manufactured, distributed or dispensed. Application for registration must be made on forms supplied by the pharmacy board, and all information called for thereon must be supplied unless the information is not applicable, in which case it must be indicated. An applicant for registration must hold the appropriate wholesaler, manufacturer or pharmacy license provided for in chapter 18.64 RCW.

(4) Every registrant shall be required to keep inventory records required by section 1304.04 (of the federal rules which have been adopted by reference by Rule 1) and must maintain said inventory records for a period of five years from the date of inventory. Such registrants are further required to keep a record of receipt and distribution of controlled substances. Such record shall include:

(a) Invoices, orders, receipts, etc. showing the date, supplier and quantity of drug received, and the name of the drug;

(b) Distribution records; i.e., invoices, etc. from wholesalers and manufacturers and prescriptions records for dispensers;

(c) In the event of a loss by theft or destruction, two copies of DEA 106 (report of theft or loss of controlled substances) must be transmitted to the federal authorities and a copy must be sent to the board;

(d) For transfers of controlled substances from one dispenser to another, a record of the transfer must be made at the time of transfer indicating the drug, quantity, date of transfer, who it was transferred to and from whom. Said record must be retained by both the transferee and the transferor. These transfers can only be made in emergencies pursuant to section 1307.11 (federal rules).

(5) The records must be maintained separately for Schedule II drugs. The records for Schedule III, IV and V drugs may be maintained either separately or in a form that is readily retrievable from the business records of the registrant. Prescription records will be deemed readily retrievable if the prescription has been stamped in red ink in the lower right hand corner with the letter "C" no less than one inch high, and said prescriptions are filed in a consecutively numbered prescription file which includes prescription and noncontrolled substances.

(6) A federal order form is required for each distribution of a Schedule I or II controlled substance, and said forms along with other records required to be kept must be made readily available to authorized employees of the board.

(7) Schedule II drugs require that a dispenser have a signed prescription in his possession prior to dispensing said drugs. An exception is permitted in an "emergency." An emergency exists when the immediate administration of the drug is necessary for proper treatment and no alternative treatment is available, and further, it is not possible for the physician to provide a written prescription for the drug at that time. If a Schedule II drug is dispensed in an emergency, the practitioner must deliver a signed prescription to the dispenser within 72 hours, and further he must note on the prescription that it was filled on an emergency basis.

The pharmacist or pharmacy intern making the sale is responsible for the recording of the required information in the Schedule V register book. The pharmacist or pharmacy intern shall not sell a Schedule V drug to a person below the age of

- (ii) The book shall be securely bound, not loose leaf or spiral bound.

(iii) The book shall have its pages consecutively numbered with a unique number assigned to each book and identified on each page.

(iv) Each page shall consist of an original and duplicate. If any sales are recorded, the duplicate sheet must be mailed to the board of pharmacy when completed or on the last day of each month, whichever is earlier.

(3) All pharmacy records relating to Schedule V drugs shall be open to examination by state board of pharmacy investigators during normal business hours. The refusal to permit such examination shall constitute grounds for the suspension or revocation of the pharmacist's license.

(2) In addition, the board reserves the right to delete identifying details when it makes available or publishes any public record, in any cases when there is reason to believe that disclosure of such details would be an invasion of personal privacy protected by RCW 42.17.255. The public records officer will fully justify such deletion in writing.

(3) All denials of requests for public records must be accompanied by a written statement specifying the reason for the denial, including a statement of the specific exemption authorizing the withholding of the record and a brief explanation of how the exemption applies to the record withheld.

of a request for a public record may petition for prompt review of such decision by tendering a written request for review. The written request shall specifically refer to the written statement by the public records officer or other staff member which constituted or accompanied the denial.

(2) Immediately after receiving a written request for review of a decision denying a public record, the public records officer or other staff member denying the request shall refer it to the executive secretary of the board. The executive secretary shall immediately consider the matter and either affirm or reverse such denial or call a special meeting of the board as soon as legally possible to review the denial. In any case, the request shall be returned with a final decision, within two business days following the original denial.

(3) Administrative remedies shall not be considered exhausted until the board has returned the petition with a decision or until the close of the second business day following denial of inspection, whichever occurs first.

WAC 246-895-010 Definitions. (1) As used in these regulations, "act" means the Uniform Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, chapter 69.04 RCW.

(2) The definitions and interpretations contained in the act shall be applicable to such terms used in these regulations.

(3) As used in these regulations:

(a) The term "component" means any ingredient intended for use in the manufacture of a drug product, including those that may not appear in the finished product.

(b) The term "drug product" means a finished dosage form (e.g., tablet, capsule, solution) that contains an active drug ingredient generally, but not necessarily, in association with inactive ingredients. The term also includes a finished dosage form that does not contain an active ingredient but is intended to be used as a placebo.

(c) The term "active ingredient" means any component that is intended to furnish pharmacological activity or other direct effect in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease, or to affect the structure or any function of the body of humans or other animals. The term includes those components that may undergo chemical change in the manufacture of the drug product and be present in that drug product in a modified form intended to furnish the specified activity or effect.

(d) The term "inactive ingredient" means any component other than an "active ingredient" present in a drug product.

(e) The term "batch" means a specific quantity of a drug or other material that has uniform character and quality, within specified limits, and is produced according to a single manufacturing order during the same cycle of manufacture.

(f) The term "lot" means a batch or a specific identified portion of a batch having uniform character and quality within specified limits; or, in the case of a drug product produced by continuous process, it is a specific identified amount produced in a unit of time or quantity in a manner that assures its having uniform character and quality within specified limits.

(g) The terms "lot number," "control number," or "batch number" mean any distinctive combination of letters, numbers, or symbols, or any combination of them, from which the complete history of the manufacture, processing, packing, holding, and distribution of a batch or lot of drug product or other material can be determined.

(h) The term "quality control unit" means any person or organizational element having the authority and responsibility to approve or reject components, in-process materials, packaging components, and final products.

(i) The term "strength" means:

(i) The concentration of the drug product (for example, w/w, w/v, or unit dose/volume basis); and/or

(ii) The potency, that is, the therapeutic activity of the drug product as indicated by appropriate laboratory tests or by adequately developed and controlled clinical data (expressed, for example, in terms of units by reference to a standard).

(j) The term "fiber" means any particulate contaminant with a length at least three times greater than its width.

(k) The term "nonfiber-releasing filter" means any filter, which after any appropriate pretreatment such as washing or flushing, will not release fibers into the component or drug product that is being filtered. All filters composed of asbestos are deemed to be fiber-releasing filters.

(l) The term "manufacture" means the production, preparation, propagation, compounding, or processing of a drug or other substance or device or the packaging or repackaging of such substance or device, or the labeling or relabeling of the commercial container of such substance or device, but does not include the activities of a practitioner who, as an incident to his or her administration or dispensing such substance or device in the course of his or her professional practice, prepares, compounds, packages or labels such substance or device.

WAC 246-895-020 Finished pharmaceuticals--Manufacturing practice. (1) The criteria in WAC 360-46-040 through 360-46-150, inclusive, shall apply in determining whether the methods used in, or the facilities or controls used for, the manufacture, processing, packing, or holding of a drug conform to or are operated or administered in conformity with current good manufacturing practice to assure that a drug meets the requirements of the act as to safety and has the identity and strength and meets the quality and purity characteristics which it purports or is represented to possess as required by the act.

(2) The regulations in this chapter permit the use of precision automatic, mechanical, or electronic equipment in the production and control of drugs when written inspection and checking policies and procedures are used to assure proper performance.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-895-020, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 88-21-025 (Order 220), § 360-46-020, filed 10/10/88; Order 133, § 360-46-020, filed 8/4/77.]

WAC 246-895-030 Personnel. (1) The personnel responsible for directing the manufacture and control of the drug shall be adequate in number and background of education, training, and experience, or combination thereof, to assure that the drug has the safety, identity, strength, quality, and purity that it purports to possess. All personnel shall have capabilities commensurate with their assigned functions, a thorough understanding of the manufacturing or control operations they perform, the necessary training or experience, and adequate information concerning the reason for application of pertinent provisions of this part to their respective functions.

(2) Any person shown at any time (either by medical examination or supervisory observation) to have an apparent illness or open lesions that may adversely affect the safety or quality of drugs shall be excluded from direct contact with components, drug product containers, closures, in-process materials, and drug products until the condition is corrected or determined by competent medical personnel not to jeopardize the safety or quality of drug products. All employees shall be instructed to report to supervisory personnel any conditions that may have such an adverse effect on drug products.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-895-030, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 88-21-025 (Order 220), § 360-46-030, filed 10/10/88; Order 133, § 360-46-030, filed 8/4/77.]

WAC 246-895-040 Buildings or facilities. Buildings shall be maintained in a clean and orderly manner and shall be of suitable size, construction, and location to facilitate adequate cleaning, maintenance, and proper operations in the manufacturing, processing, packing, repacking, labeling, or holding of a drug. The buildings shall:

(1) Provide adequate space for:

(a) Orderly placement of equipment and materials to minimize any risk of mixups between different drugs, drug components, drug products, in-process materials, packaging materials, or labeling, and to minimize the possibility of contamination.

(b) The receipt, storage, and withholding from use of components pending sampling, identification, and testing prior to release by the quality control unit for manufacturing or packaging.

(c) The holding of rejected components prior to disposition to preclude the possibility of their use in manufacturing or packaging procedures for which they are unsuitable.

(d) The storage of components, containers, packaging materials, and labeling.

(e) Any manufacturing and processing operations performed.

(f) Any packaging or labeling operations.

(g) Storage of finished products.

(h) Control and production-laboratory operations.

(2) Provide adequate lighting, ventilation, and screening and, when necessary for the intended production or control purposes, provide facilities for adequate air-pressure, microbiological, dust humidity, and temperature controls to:

(a) Minimize contamination of products by extraneous adulterants, including cross-contamination of one product by dust or particles of ingredients arising from the manufacture, storage, or handling of another product.

(b) Minimize dissemination of micro-organisms from one area to another.

(c) Provide suitable storage conditions for drug components, in-process materials, and finished drugs in conformance with stability information as derived under WAC 360-46-100.

WAC 246-895-050 Equipment. Equipment used for the manufacture, processing, packing, labeling, holding, testing, or control of drugs shall be maintained in a clean and orderly manner and shall be of suitable design, size, construction, and location to facilitate cleaning, maintenance, and operation for its intended purpose. The equipment shall:

(1) Be so constructed that all surfaces that come into contact with a drug component, in-process material, or drug product shall not be reactive, additive, or absorptive so as to alter the safety, identity, strength, quality, or purity of the drug product beyond the official or other established requirements.

(2) Be so constructed that any substances required for operation of the equipment, such as lubricants or coolants, do not contact drug products so as to alter the safety, identity, strength, quality, or purity of the drug or its components beyond the official or other established requirements.

(3) Be constructed and installed to facilitate adjustment, disassembly cleaning and maintenance to assure the reliability of control procedures, uniformity of production and exclusion from the drugs of contaminants from previous and current operations that might affect the safety, identity, strength, quality, or purity of the drug or its components beyond the official or other established requirements.

(4) Be of suitable type, size and accuracy for any testing, measuring, mixing, weighing, or other processing or storage operations.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-895-050, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 88-21-025 (Order 220), § 360-46-050, filed 10/10/88; Order 133, § 360-46-050, filed 8/4/77.]

WAC 246-895-060 Production and control procedures. Production and control procedures shall include all reasonable precautions, including the following, to assure that the drugs produced have the safety, identity, strength, quality, and purity they purport to possess:

(1) Each significant step in the process, such as the selection, weighing, and measuring of components, the addition of ingredients during the process, weighing and measuring during various stages of the processing, and the determination of the finished yield, shall be performed by a competent and responsible individual and checked by a second competent and responsible individual; or if such steps in the processing are controlled by precision automatic, mechanical, or electronic equipment, their proper performance is adequately checked by one or more competent individuals. The written record of the significant steps in the process shall be identified by the individual performing these tests and by the individual charged with checking these steps. Such identifications shall be recorded immediately following the completion of such steps.

(2) All containers, lines, and equipment used during the production of a batch of a drug shall be properly identified at all times to accurately and completely indicate their contents, including batch number, and, when necessary, the stage of processing of the batch.

(3) To minimize contamination and prevent mixups, equipment, utensils, and containers shall be thoroughly and appropriately cleaned and properly stored and have previous batch identification removed or obliterated between batches or at suitable intervals in continuous production operations.

(4) Appropriate written procedures, designed to prevent objectionable microorganisms in drug products not requiring to be sterile, shall be established and followed.

(5) Appropriate written procedures, designed to prevent microbiological contamination of drug products purporting to be sterile, shall be established and followed. Such procedures shall include validation of any sterilization process.

(6) Appropriate procedures shall be established to minimize the hazard of cross-contamination of any drugs while being manufactured or stored.

(7) To assure the uniformity and integrity of products, there shall be adequate in-process controls, such as checking the weights and disintegration times of tablets, the adequacy of mixing, the homogeneity of suspensions, and the clarity of solutions. In-process sampling shall be done at appropriate intervals using suitable equipment.

(8) Representative samples of all dosage form drugs shall be tested to determine their conformance with the specifications for the product before distribution.

(9) Procedures shall be instituted whereby review and approval of all production and control records, including packaging and labeling, shall be made prior to the release or distribution of a batch. A thorough investigation of any unexplained discrepancy or the failure of a batch to meet any of its specifications shall be undertaken whether or not the batch has already been distributed. This investigation shall be undertaken by a competent and responsible individual and shall extend to other batches of the same drug and other drugs that may have been associated with the specific failure. A written record of the investigation shall be made and shall include the conclusions and followup.

(10) Returned goods shall be identified as such and held. If the conditions under which returned goods have been held, stored, or shipped prior to or during their return, or the condition of the product, its container, carton, or labeling as a result of storage or shipping, cast doubt on the safety, identity, strength, quality, or purity of the drug product, the returned goods shall be destroyed or subjected to adequate examination or testing to assure that the material meets all appropriate standards or specifications before being returned to stock for warehouse distribution or repacking. If the product is neither destroyed nor returned to stock, it may be reprocessed provided the final product meets all its standards and specifications. Records of returned goods shall be maintained and shall indicate the quantity returned, date, and actual disposition of the product. If the reason for returned goods implicates associated batches, an appropriate investigation shall be made in accordance with the requirements of subsection (9) of this section.

(11) Filters used in the manufacture, processing, or packaging of components of drug products for parenteral injection in humans shall not release fibers into such products. No asbestos-containing or other fiber-releasing filter may be used in the manufacture, processing, or packaging of such products. Filtration, as needed, shall be through a non-fiber-releasing filter.

(12) Appropriate procedures shall be established to destroy beyond recognition and retrievability any and all components or drug products that are to be discarded or destroyed for any reason.

WAC 246-895-070 Components. All components and other materials used in the manufacture, processing, and packaging of drug products, and materials necessary for building and equipment maintenance, upon receipt shall be stored and handled in a safe, sanitary, and orderly manner. Adequate measures shall be taken to prevent mixups and cross-contamination affecting drugs and drug products. Components shall be withheld from use until they have been identified, sampled, and tested for conformance with established specifications and are released by a quality control unit. Control of components shall include the following:

(1) Each container of component shall be examined visually for damage or contamination prior to use, including examination for breakage of seals when indicated.

(2) An adequate number of samples shall be taken from a representative number of component containers from each lot and shall be subjected to one or more tests to establish the specific identity.

(3) Sample containers shall be identified so that the following information can be determined: Name of the material sampled, the lot number, the container from which the sample was taken, and the name of the person who collected the sample.

(4) Containers from which samples have been taken shall be marked to show that samples have been removed from them.

(5) Representative samples of components liable to contamination with filth, insect infestation, or other extraneous contaminants shall be appropriately examined.

(6) Representative samples of all components intended for use as active ingredients shall be tested to determine their strength in order to assure conformance with appropriate specifications.

(7) Representative samples of components liable to microbiological contamination shall be subjected to microbiological tests prior to use. Such components shall not contain microorganisms that are objectionable in view of their intended use.

(8) Approved components shall be appropriately identified and retested as necessary to assure that they conform to appropriate specifications of identity, strength, quality, and purity at time of use. This requires the following:

(a) Approved components shall be handled and stored to guard against contaminating or being contaminated by other drugs or components.

(b) Approved components shall be rotated in such a manner that the oldest stock is used first.

(c) Rejected components shall be identified and held to preclude their use in manufacturing or processing procedures for which they are unsuitable.

(9) Appropriate records shall be maintained, including the following:

(a) The identity and quantity of the component, the name of the supplier, the supplier's lot number, and the date of receipt.

(b) Examinations and tests performed and rejected components and their disposition.

(c) An individual inventory and record for each component used in each batch of drug manufactured or processed.

(10) An appropriately identified reserve sample of all active ingredients consisting of at least twice the quantity necessary for all required tests, except those for sterility and determination of the presence of pyrogens, shall be retained for at least two years after distribution of the last drug lot incorporating the component has been completed or one year after the expiration date of this last drug lot, whichever is longer.

WAC 246-895-080 Component and drug product containers and closures. (1) Component and drug product containers and closures shall:

(a) Not be reactive, additive, or absorptive so as to alter the safety, identity, strength, quantity, or purity of the product or its components beyond the official or established requirements;

(b) Provide adequate protection against foreseeable external factors in storage and use that can cause deterioration or contamination of the drug product; and

(c) Be clean and, where indicated by the nature of the drug, sterilized and processed to remove pyrogenic properties to assure that they are suitable for their intended use.

Containers and their components for parenterals shall be cleansed with water which has been filtered through a nonfiber-releasing filter.

(2) Standards or specifications, methods of testing, and, where indicated, processing to remove pyrogenic properties shall be written and followed for component and drug product containers and closures.

WAC 246-895-090 Reuse of teat dip containers and closures. The reuse of teat dip containers and closures shall be allowed under the following circumstances:

(1) Teat dip containers for reuse must have attached a labelling panel bearing product name, brand name and distributor address if marketed by other than the manufacturer, manufacturer name and address, product strength, quantity, expiration date, directions for use, and appropriate cautionary statements for the product contained within.

(2) All reusable teat dip containers will be hot stamped for permanent identification as teat dip containers. The hot stamp shall imprint on the plastic container, in an immutable manner, the words "teat dip only" and the manufacturer's name. Teat dip manufacturers may only refill containers bearing their company name.

(3) With cooperation from dairy producers, dairy sanitarians will take random samples of teat dip in reusable containers while on regular farm inspections. The samples, along with appropriate label information, will be forwarded to the board of pharmacy for analysis to insure that the product meets label specifications and is free of contamination.

(4) Reusable teat dip containers shall not be reactive, additive, or absorptive so as to alter the safety, identity, strength, quantity, or purity of the product.

(5) Upon return to the manufacturer, reusable teat dip containers shall be cleaned and sanitized. To insure adequate cleaning occurs, the board of pharmacy may require a manufacturer to submit and have approved a cleaning procedure. Containers showing structural damage, or any signs of being used for substances or materials other than teat dip shall not be reused as teat dip containers.

WAC 246-895-100 Laboratory controls. Laboratory controls shall include the establishment of scientifically sound and appropriate written specifications, standards, and test procedures to assure that components, in-processed drugs, and finished products conform to appropriate standards of identity, strength, quality and purity. Laboratory controls shall include:

(1) The establishment of master records containing appropriate specifications for the acceptance of each lot of drug components, product containers, and their components used in drug production and packaging and a description of the sampling and testing procedures used for them. Said samples shall be representative and adequately identified. Such records shall also provide for appropriate retesting of drug components, product containers, and their components subject to deterioration.

(2) A reserve sample of all active ingredients as required by WAC 360-46-070(2).

(3) The establishment of master records, when needed, containing specifications and a description of sampling and testing procedures for in-process drug preparations. Such samples shall be adequately representative and properly identified.

(4) The establishment of master records containing a description of sampling procedures and appropriate specifications for finished drug products. Such samples shall be adequately representative and properly identified.

(5) Adequate provisions for checking the identity and strength of drug products for all active ingredients and for assuring:

(a) Sterility of drugs purported to be sterile and freedom from objectionable microorganisms for those drugs which should be so by virtue of their intended use.

(b) The absence of pyrogens for those drugs purporting to be pyrogen-free.

(c) Minimal contamination of ophthalmic ointments by foreign particles and harsh or abrasive substances.

(d) That the drug release pattern of sustained release products is tested by laboratory methods to assure conformance to the release specifications.

(6) Adequate provision for auditing the reliability, accuracy, precision, and performance of laboratory test procedures and laboratory instruments used.

(7) A properly identified reserve sample of the finished product (stored in the same immediate container-closure system in which the drug is marketed) consisting of at least twice the quantity necessary to perform all the required tests, except those for sterility and determination of the absence of pyrogens, and stored under conditions consistent with product labeling shall be retained for at least two years after the drug distribution has been completed or one year after the drug's expiration date, whichever is longer.

(8) Provision for retaining complete records of all laboratory data relating to each batch or lot of drug to which they apply. Such records shall be retained for at least two years after distribution has been completed or one year after the drug's expiration date, whichever is longer.

(9) Provision that animals shall be maintained and controlled in a manner that assures suitability for their intended use. They shall be identified and appropriate records maintained to determine the history of use.

(10) Provision that firms which manufacture nonpenicillin products (including certifiable antibiotic products) on the same premises or use the same equipment as that used for manufacturing penicillin products, or that operate under any circumstances that may reasonably be regarded as conducive to contamination of other drugs by penicillin, shall test such nonpenicillin products to determine whether any have become cross-contaminated by penicillin. Such products shall not be marketed if intended for use in humans and the product is contaminated with an amount of penicillin equivalent to 0.5 unit or more of penicillin G per maximum single dose recommended in the labeling of a drug intended for parenteral administration, or an amount of penicillin equivalent to 0.5 unit or more of penicillin G per maximum single dose recommended in the labeling of a drug intended for oral use.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-895-100, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 88-21-025 (Order 220), § 360-46-090, filed 10/10/88; Order 133, § 360-46-090, filed 8/4/77.]

(1) Determined by reliable, meaningful, and specific test methods.

(2) Determined on products in the same container-closure system in which they are marketed.

(3) Determined on any dry drug product that is to be reconstituted at the time of dispensing (as directed in its labeling), as well as on the reconstituted product.

(4) Recorded and maintained in such manner that the stability data may be utilized in establishing product expiration dates.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-895-110, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 88-21-025 (Order 220), § 360-46-100, filed 10/10/88; Order 133, § 360-46-100, filed 8/4/77.]

WAC 246-895-120 Expiration dating. To assure that drug products liable to deterioration meet appropriate standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity at the time of use, the label of all such drugs shall have suitable expiration dates which relate to stability tests performed on the product.

(1) Expiration dates appearing on the drug labeling shall be justified by readily available data from stability studies such as described in WAC 360-46-100.

(2) Expiration dates shall be related to appropriate storage conditions stated on the labeling wherever the expiration date appears.

(3) When the drug is marketed in the dry state for use in preparing a liquid product, the labeling shall bear expiration information for the reconstituted product as well as an expiration date for the dry product.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-895-120, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91; Order 133, § 360-46-110, filed 8/4/77.]

WAC 246-895-130 Packaging and labeling. Packaging and labeling operations shall be adequately controlled: To assure that only those drug products that have met the standards and specifications established in their master production and control records shall be distributed; to prevent mixups between drugs during filling, packaging, and labeling operations; to assure that correct labels and labeling are employed for the drug; and to identify the finished product with a lot or control number that permits determination of the history of the manufacture and control of the batch. An hour, day, or shift code is appropriate as a lot or control number for drug products manufactured or processed in continuous production equipment. Packaging and labeling operations shall:

(1) Be separated (physically or spatially) from operations on other drugs in a manner adequate to avoid mixups and minimize cross-contamination. Two or more packaging or labeling operations having drugs, containers, or labeling similar in appearance shall not be in process simultaneously on adjacent or nearby lines unless these operations are separated either physically or spatially.

(2) Provide for an inspection of the facilities prior to use to assure that all drugs and previously used packaging and labeling materials have been removed.

(3) Include the following labeling controls:

(a) The holding of labels and package labeling upon receipt pending review and proofing against an approved final copy by a competent and responsible individual to assure that they are accurate regarding identity, content, and conformity with the approved copy before release to inventory.

(b) The maintenance and storage of each type of label and package labeling representing different products, strength, dosage forms, or quantity of contents in such a manner as to prevent mixups and provide proper identification.

(c) A suitable system for assuring that only current labels and package labeling are retained and that stocks of obsolete labels and package labeling are destroyed.

(d) Restriction of access to labels and package labeling to authorized personnel.

(e) Avoidance of gang printing of cut labels, cartons, or inserts when the labels, cartons, or inserts are for different products or different strengths of the same products or are of the same size and have identical or similar format and/or color schemes. If gang printing is employed, packaging and labeling operations shall provide for added control procedures. These added controls should consider sheet layout, stacking, cutting, and handling during and after printing.

(4) Provide strict control of the package labeling issued for use with the drug. Such issue shall be carefully checked by a competent and responsible person for identity and conformity to the labeling specified in the batch production record. Said record shall identify the labeling and the quantities issued and used and shall reasonably reconcile any discrepancy between the quantity of drug finished and the quantities of labeling issued. All excess package labeling bearing lot or control numbers shall be destroyed. In event of any significant unexplained discrepancy, an investigation should be carried out according to WAC 360-46-060 (9).

(5) Provide for adequate examination or laboratory testing of representative samples of finished products after packaging and labeling to safeguard against any errors in the finishing operations and to prevent distribution of any batch until all specified tests have been met.

(6) Provide for compliance with the Poison Prevention Packaging Act, (16 CFR Part 1700).

(7) Provide for compliance with WAC 360-46-080(2).

These records shall identify the specific labeling and lot or control numbers used on the batch and shall be readily available during such retention period. The batch record shall include:

(a) An accurate reproduction of the appropriate master formula record checked, dated, and signed or initialed by a competent and responsible individual.

(b) A record of each significant step in the manufacturing, processing, packaging, labeling testing, and controlling of the batch, including: Dates; individual major equipment and lines employed; specific identification of each batch of components used; weights and measures of components and products used in the course of processing; in-process and laboratory control results; and identifications of the individual(s) actively performing and the individual(s) directly supervising or checking each significant step in the operation.

(c) A batch number that identifies all the production and control documents relating to the history of the batch and all lot or control numbers associated with the batch.

(d) A record of any investigation made according to WAC 360-46-060 (9).

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005 and chapter 18.64A RCW. 91-18-057 (Order 191B), recodified as § 246-895-140, filed 8/30/91, effective 9/30/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.64.005. 88-21-025 (Order 220), § 360-46-130, filed 10/10/88; Order 133, § 360-46-130, filed 8/4/77.]

WAC 246-895-150 Distribution records. (1) Finished goods warehouse control and distribution procedures shall include a system by which the distribution of each lot of drug can be readily determined to facilitate its recall if necessary. Records within the system shall contain the name and address of the consignee, date and quantity shipped, and lot or control number of the drug. Records shall be retained for at least two years after the distribution of the drug has been completed or one year after the expiration date of the drug, whichever is longer.

The request must be in writing and must explain why the criteria should not apply and how the public's safety would be protected. Issuance of a variance shall be based on the information supplied by the manufacturer requesting the variance, as well as any other information available as a result of any investigation by the board and/or any other relevant information available. After due consideration of all the information, the board may issue or deny the requested variance. Any variance granted shall be limited to the particular case described in the request and shall be posted at the manufacturing location during the time it is in effect. Variances will be reviewed at least every three years. Variances shall be subject to withdrawal or modification at any time if the board finds the variance has resulted in actual or potential harm to the public.

The nuclear pharmacist shall be responsible for all operations of the licensed area. In emergency situations, in the nuclear pharmacist's absence, he or she may designate one or more qualified, registered or certified health care personnel to have access to the licensed area. These individuals may obtain radiopharmaceuticals for the immediate emergency and must document such withdrawals in the control system.

(2) Nuclear pharmacies shall have adequate space, commensurate with the scope of services to be provided. The nuclear pharmacy area shall be separate from the pharmacy areas for nonradiopharmaceuticals and shall be secured from access by unauthorized personnel. A nuclear pharmacy handling radiopharmaceuticals exclusively may be exempted from the general space requirements for pharmacies by obtaining a waiver from the state board of pharmacy. Detailed floor plans shall be submitted to the state board of pharmacy and the state radiation control agency before approval of the license.

(3) Nuclear pharmacies shall only dispense radiopharmaceuticals which comply with accepted professional standards of radiopharmaceutical quality assurance.

(4) Nuclear pharmacies shall maintain records of acquisition and disposition of all radiopharmaceuticals in accordance with applicable regulations of the state board of pharmacy, the state radiation control agency and other state and federal agencies.

(5) For nuclear pharmacies handling radiopharmaceuticals exclusively, the state board of pharmacy may waive regulations pertaining to the pharmacy permits for nonradiopharmaceuticals for requirements that do not pertain to the practice of nuclear pharmacy.

(6) Radiopharmaceuticals are to be dispensed only upon a prescription from a practitioner authorized to possess, use and administer radiopharmaceuticals. A nuclear pharmacy may also furnish radiopharmaceuticals for office use to these practitioners.

(7) A nuclear pharmacist may transfer to authorized persons radioactive materials not intended for drug use, in accordance with regulations of the state radiation control agency.

(8) In addition to any labeling requirements of the state board of pharmacy for nonradiopharmaceuticals, the immediate outer container of the radiopharmaceutical to be dispensed shall also be labeled with: 1) Standard radiation symbol; 2) the words "caution-radioactive material"; 3) the name of the radiopharmaceutical; 4) the amount of radioactive material contained, in millicuries or microcuries; 5) if a liquid, the volume in milliliters; 6) the requested calibration time for the amount of radioactivity contained; 7) expiration data, if applicable; and 8) specific concentration of radioactivity.

(9) The immediate container shall be labeled with: 1) The standard radiation symbol; 2) the words "caution-radioactive material"; 3) the name of the nuclear pharmacy; 4) the prescription number; 5) the name of the radiopharmaceutical; (6) the date; and (7) the amount of radioactive material contained in millicuries or microcuries.

(10) The amount of radioactivity shall be determined by radiometric methods for each individual preparation immediately prior to dispensing.

(11) Nuclear pharmacies may redistribute NDA approved radiopharmaceuticals if the pharmacy does not process the radiopharmaceuticals in any manner or violate the product packaging.

(12) The nuclear pharmacy shall have the current revisions of state laws and regulations of the state board of pharmacy and state radiation control agency.

(13) The nuclear pharmacy shall maintain a library commensurate with the level of radiopharmaceutical service to be provided. A detailed library listing shall be submitted to the state board of pharmacy and state radiation control agency before approval of the license.

(2) Be a pharmacist licensed to practice in Washington; and,

(3) Submit to the board of pharmacy either:

(a) Certification that he or she has completed a minimum of 6 months on-the-job training under the supervision of a qualified nuclear pharmacist in a nuclear pharmacy providing radiopharmaceutical services, or

(c) That upon application to the board in affidavit form, and upon the furnishing of such other information as the board may require, the board may grant partial or equivalent credit for education and experience gained in programs not sponsored by an accredited college of pharmacy, if, in the opinion of the board, the education and experience gained by participants in these programs would provide the same level of competence as participation in a program at an accredited college of pharmacy; and

(4) Receive a letter of notification from the board of pharmacy that the evidence submitted that the pharmacist meets the requirements of subsections 1, 2, and 3 above has been accepted by the board and that, based thereon, the pharmacist is recognized by the board as a nuclear pharmacist.

WAC 246-915-015 Examination appeal procedures.

(1) Any candidate who takes the state written examination for licensure and does not pass may request informal review by the board of his or her examination results. The request must be in writing and must be received by the department of health, professional licensing services division within thirty days of the postmark on the notification of the examination results. The board will not set aside the examination results unless the candidate proves the challenged score was the result of fraud, coercion, arbitrariness, or manifest unfairness. The board will not consider any challenges to examination scores unless the total revised score could result in a passing score.

(2) The procedure for filing an informal review is as follows:

(a) Contact in writing the department of health office in Olympia for an appointment to appear personally to review incorrect answers on failed examinations.

(b) The candidate will be provided a form to complete in the department of health office in Olympia in defense of his or her examination answers.

(c) The candidate must state the specific reason or reasons why the candidate feels the results of the examination should be changed.

(d) The candidate will be identified only by candidate number for the purpose of this review. Letters of reference or requests for special consideration will not be read or considered by the board.

(e) The candidate may not bring in any resource materials for use while completing the informal review form.

(f) The candidate will not be allowed to remove any notes or materials from the office upon leaving.

(g) The candidate must comply with all procedural and security requirements for examination appeals established by the department of health.

(h) The board will review and evaluate the comments submitted by the candidate on the forms provided for the informal review and make its decision regarding the candidate.

(i) The candidate will be notified in writing of the board's decision by the department.

(3) Any candidate who is not satisfied with the result of the examination review may request a formal hearing to be held before the board pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act. Such hearing must be requested within thirty days of the postmark of the result of the board's review of the examination results. The request must state the specific reason or reasons why the candidate feels the results of the examination should be changed. The prior determination will not be set aside unless the candidate proves the challenged score was the result of fraud, coercion, arbitrariness, or manifest unfairness. The board will not consider any challenges to examination scores unless the total revised score could result in a passing score.

(4) Prior to scheduling the hearing the candidate or the state's attorney may petition to appear before an administrative law judge for a prehearing conference to consider the following:

(5) The administrative law judge shall enter an order which recites the action taken at the conference, the amendments allowed to the pleadings, and the agreements made by the parties or their qualified representatives as to any of the matters considered, including the settlement or simplification of issues, and which limits the issues for hearing to those not disposed of by admissions or agreements. Such order shall control the subsequent course of the proceeding unless modified for good cause by subsequent order of the board.

(6) Candidates seeking formal appeal will receive at least twenty days' advance notice of the time and place of the formal hearing. The hearing will be restricted to the specific reasons the candidate has identified as the basis for a change in the examination score.

(2) One clock hour shall equal one credit hour for the purpose of satisfying the one hundred fifty hour continuing medical education requirement.

(3)(a) Category I: Continuing medical education activities with accredited sponsorship. A maximum of one hundred fifty credit hours may be earned in Category I. (2) Continuing medical education program sponsors need not apply for nor expect to receive prior board approval for a formal continuing medical education program. The continuing medical education category will depend solely upon the accredited status of the organization or institution. The number of creditable hours may be determined by counting the contact hours of instruction and rounding to the nearest quarter hour. Approval may be granted to an individual registration applicant's training, or to existing institutions which operate on a continuing basis. The program approval process is as follows:

(a) Programs seeking approval shall file an application with the board in the format required by the board.

(b) The board will review the application and determine whether a site review is necessary (in the case of an institution) or an interview is appropriate (in the case of individual training) or approval may be granted on the basis of the application alone.

(c) The site review committee shall consist of two board members, two acupuncturists from the board's acupuncture advisory committee, and one member of the board staff. The review committee may visit the program any time during school operating hours. The committee will report to the board in writing concerning the program's compliance with each section of the regulations.

(d) After reviewing all of the information collected concerning a program; the board may grant or deny approval, or grant approval conditional upon program modifications being made. In the event of denial or conditional approval, the program may request a hearing before the board. No approval shall be extended to an institution for more than three years, at which time a request for reapproval may be made.

(e) The board expects approved programs not to make changes which will result in the program not being in compliance with the regulations. Programs must notify the board concerning significant changes in administration, faculty or curriculum. The board may inspect the school at reasonable intervals to check for compliance. Program approval may be withdrawn, after a hearing, if the board finds the program is no longer in compliance with the regulations.

(2) Didactic faculty. Didactic training may only be provided by persons who meet the criteria for faculty as stated in the council for postsecondary education's WAC 250-55-090 Personnel qualifications. Under no circumstances will an unregistered instructor perform or supervise the performance of acupuncture.

(b) If the training is conducted in this state, the practitioner must be registered to practice in this state. In the case of a school or program, the approval of the institution will include a review of the instructor's qualifications and the training arrangements. Approval of the instructors will extend to instruction conducted within the program.

(c) Clinical training shall be established to guarantee that student apprentices shall be exposed to a broad representation of styles and techniques. The required training hours for student observation and supervised clinical practice shall be obtained from a minimum of three instructors. No more than forty percent of the clinical instruction shall be obtained from any one instructor.

(d) For training not conducted in this state to be acceptable, the instructor must be licensed by a state or country with equivalent license standards.

(4) Supervision of training. Clinical training in this state must be conducted under the general supervision of the instructor's sponsoring physician. During any given clinic period, the acupuncture instructor may not supervise more than four students. The number of students present during an observation session should be limited according to the judgment of the instructor. Supervision by the instructor during clinical training must be direct: Each diagnosis and treatment must be done with the knowledge and concurrence of the instructor. During at least the first 100 treatments, the instructor must be in the room during treatment. Thereafter, the instructor must at least be in the facility, available for consultation and assistance. A medical doctor may only supervise two acupuncture assistant instructors per clinical instruction period.

(7) Applicants will receive at least twenty days notice of the time and place of the formal hearing. The hearing will be restricted to the specific reasons the applicant has identified as the basis for a change in the examination score.

WAC 246-922-080 Advertisements prior to licensure prohibited. Any individual who has not been licensed to practice as a podiatric physician and surgeon by the state of Washington is prohibited from advertising as practicing podiatric medicine and surgery in this state, by any means including placement of a telephone listing in any telephone directory.

WAC 246-922-090 Delegation of acts to unlicensed persons. The purpose of WAC 246-922-100 and 246-922-110 is to establish guidelines on delegation of duties to persons who are not licensed to practice podiatric medicine and surgery. The podiatric medical laws of Washington state authorize the delegation of certain duties to nonpodiatric personnel and prohibit the delegation of certain other duties. The licensed podiatric physician and surgeon is ultimately responsible for all treatments performed at his direction. Duties that may be delegated to a person not licensed to practice podiatric medicine and surgery may be performed only under the supervision of a licensed podiatric physician and surgeon. The degree of supervision required to assure that treatment is appropriate and does not jeopardize the systemic or pedal health of the patient varies with, among other considerations, the nature of the procedure and the qualifications of the person to whom the duty is delegated. The board therefore, in order to promote the welfare of the state and to protect the health and well-being of the people of this state, finds that it is necessary to adopt the following definitions and regulations.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.22.015, 91-10-041 (Order 158B), § 246-922-090, filed 4/25/91, effective 5/26/91; 91-03-095 (Order 118B), recodified as § 246-922-090, filed 1/18/91, effective 2/18/91; 87-04-050 (Order PM 638), § 308-31-100, filed 2/3/87; 84-02-077 (Order PL 450), § 308-31-100, filed 1/4/84.]

fees may not exceed those in accord with the usual, customary and reasonable charges in the particular community. Complaints regarding excessive charges will be evaluated by the board on an individual basis governed by the following definitions of usual, customary and reasonable fees, as used herein:

(1) "Usual" is defined as the usual fee which is charged for a given service by an individual podiatric physician and surgeon in his practice (i.e., his or her own usual fee).

(2) "Customary" is defined as that range of usual fees charged by podiatric physicians and surgeons of similar training and experience for the same service within a given metropolitan or specific geographic area.

(3) "Reasonable" is defined as a fee which meets the above two criteria or, in the opinion of the board, is justifiable in the circumstances of the particular case in question. WAC 246-922-290 Inactive license and reactivation. A licensee who is in active practice in another state may maintain a current license by requesting his or her license be placed on inactive status.

(1) A licensee practicing in another state whose Washington license to practice podiatric medicine and surgery became inactive on or after July 1, 1987, due to nonpayment of the renewal fees may request his or her license be placed on inactive license status. The request and inactive license fee must be submitted by September 1, 1991.

(2) A licensee who holds a current Washington podiatry license and is actively practicing in another state may request his or her license be placed on inactive status.

A license shall be maintained on the inactive status by payment of the inactive renewal fee annually and verification of compliance with the continuing education requirements established by the board.

An inactive license may be reactivated by payment of the current renewal fee and verification that the licensee has not had any action taken by a state or federal jurisdiction or hospital which would prevent or restrict the licensee's practice of podiatric medicine and surgery; or voluntarily given up any license or privilege or been restricted in the practice of podiatric medicine and surgery in lieu of or to avoid formal action.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.22.015. 91-10-041 (Order 158B), § 246-922-290, filed 4/25/91, effective 5/26/91.]

WAC 246-922-295 Lapsed license reinstatement. A license that has not been renewed due to nonpayment of the annual renewal fee shall be considered to be a lapsed license. The license may be reinstated without examination if the board determines that the applicant meets all the requirements for licensure in this state and is competent to engage in the practice of podiatric medicine and surgery.

(1) A license that has lapsed less than one year shall be reinstated upon written request, including a practice chronology from the date of license lapse to the present, payment of the renewal penalty fee together with all delinquent annual renewal fees, and verification of compliance with the continuing education requirements established by the board.

WAC 246-922-300 Podiatric continuing education required. The podiatric medical board encourages licensees to deliver high-quality patient care. The board recognizes that continuing education programs designed to inform practitioners of recent developments within podiatric medicine and relative fields and review of various aspects of basic professional education and podiatric practice are beneficial to professional growth. The board encourages participation in podiatric continuing education as a mechanism to maintain and enhance competence.

(1) Twenty-five contact hours of podiatric continuing education shall be required annually to maintain a current license.

(2) In case a licensee fails to meet the requirements due to illness, retirement (with no further provision of podiatric services being provided consumers), or other extenuating circumstances, each case will be considered by the board on an individual basis. When circumstances justify it, the board may grant an extension of time or a change in requirements. In the case of permanent retirement or illness, the board may grant indefinite waiver of podiatric continuing education as a requirement for relicensure, provided an affidavit is received indicating the podiatric physician and surgeon is not providing podiatric services to consumers. If such permanent retirement or illness status is changed or podiatric services are resumed, it is incumbent upon the licensee to immediately notify the board and show proof of practice competency as determined necessary by the board.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.22.015. 91-10-041 (Order 158B), § 246-922-300, filed 4/25/91, effective 5/26/91.]

The first reporting period shall commence June 1, 1991, with verification of compliance required for the 1992 renewal of licensure.

(2) The board may require a licensee to submit evidence in addition to the affidavit to demonstrate compliance with the twenty-five contact hours of podiatric continuing education requirement. Accordingly, it is the responsibility of a licensee to maintain evidence of such compliance for two years following the reporting period the hours were used for renewal of licensure.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.22.015. 91-10-041 (Order 158B), § 246-922-320, filed 4/25/91, effective 5/26/91.]

WAC 246-924-050 Psychologists—Education prerequisites to licensing for applicants enrolled in a doctoral program between December 28, 1978 to October 19, 1987. (1) This rule applies in lieu of WAC 308-122-200 for applicants enrolled between December 28, 1978 and October 19, 1987 in a program leading to a doctoral degree. To meet the education requirement imposed by the statute, an applicant must possess a doctoral degree from a training institution approved by the board in which at least forty semester hours, or sixty quarter-hours, of graduate courses were passed successfully, and were clearly identified by title and course content as being primarily psychological in nature, as determined by the board. Part of the standards for issuance of said degree must require the submission of an original dissertation which must be psychological in nature, as determined by the board.

(2) The following guidelines define the "academic core" of study that should have been completed by each applicant:

(a) Programs accredited by the American Psychological Association are recognized as one way of meeting the definition of a professional psychology program. The criteria for accreditation serve as a model for professional training.

(b) Training in professional psychology is doctoral training offered in regionally accredited institution of higher education.

(c) The program must be clearly identified and labeled as a psychology program. Pertinent catalogues and brochures must show intent to educate and train professional psychologists.

(d) The psychology program must stand as a recognizable, coherent, organizational entity within the institution.

(e) There must be a clear authority and primary responsibility for the core and specialty areas whether or not the program cuts across administrative lines.

(f) There must be an organized sequence of study planned by those responsible for the training program to provide an appropriate, integrated, experience applicable to the professional practice of psychology.

(g) There must be an identifiable psychology faculty and a psychologist responsible for the program.

(h) There must be an identifiable body of students, selected on the basis of high ability and appropriate educational preparation.

(i) Programs must include practicum, internship, field or laboratory experience appropriate to the practice of psychology.

(j) The curriculum should encompass a minimum (or equivalent) of three academic years of full-time graduate study. The doctoral program should involve at least one continuous year of full-time residency at the university at which the degree is granted. Instruction should include scientific and professional ethics and standards, history and systems: Research design and methodology; statistics and psychometrics. The core program should also require each student to obtain an academic background of the following content areas (typically six or more semester hours):

(i) Biological bases of behavior: e.g., physiological psychology, comparative, neuropsychology, sensation and perception, psychopharmacology.

(ii) Cognitive-affective bases of behavior: e.g., learning, thinking, motivation, emotions.

(iii) Social bases of behavior: e.g., social, psychology, group processes, organizational and systems theory.

(iv) Individual differences: e.g., personality theory, human development, abnormal psychology.

(3) If the major emphasis is in an applied area such as clinical, counseling, school or other pertinent areas, the program must include a set of coordinated practicum and internship experiences which total at least two semesters in the practicum setting, and additionally a "one-year" internship. A minimum of 300 hours of practicum, including 100 hours of scheduled individual supervision, should precede the internship.

(4) The psychological services offered in the internship program in "Standards for providers of psychological services" published by the American Psychological Association may be used as a framework for the internship program. The board also recognizes other quality internship programs.

WAC 246-924-060 Psychologists—Experience prerequisite to licensing. (1) Need for supervision. The law requires that the applicant have at least twelve months experience practicing psychology under qualified supervision after having completed all requirements for a doctoral degree. Supervision must be appropriate to the area(s) of professional activity in which the candidate intends to function.

(2) Twelve months of experience shall include a MINIMUM of 1500 supervised clock hours of psychological work. There should be a MINIMUM of one hour of individual supervision for every twenty hours of psychological work. The majority of supervised hours should be in the area(s) of intended psychological work. Documentation of experience and supervision hours shall be kept by supervisee and supervisor. The supervisor(s) shall forward to the board a written evaluation at the end of the twelve-month period, and shall indicate whether the supervisee has satisfactorily completed the supervised clock hours of psychological work. If any supervisor's(s') written evaluation indicates that the supervisee has failed to satisfactorily complete the required work, the board may require additional supervised clock hours of psychological work.

(3) Appropriate supervision is that provided by a licensed psychologist with two years post-license experience, a psychiatrist with three years of experience beyond residency, or an MSW with five years post degree experience or a doctoral level psychologist by training and degree with two years of post-doctoral experience who is exempt from licensure by RCW 18.83.200 (1); (2); (3); or, (4), but only when supervising within the exempt setting. At least 50 percent of supervision must be provided by a licensed psychologist. The supervisor must have competence in the area(s) of intended psychological work of the supervisee. The supervisor shall not supervise in any area in which he or she does not have competence.

(4) Content of supervision. Supervision should include, but not be limited to, the following content area:

- (a) Discussion of services provided by the supervisee;
- (b) Selection, service plan, and review of each case or work unit of the supervisee;
- (c) Discussion of and instruction in theoretical conceptions underlying the supervised work;
- (d) Discussion of the management of professional practice or other administrative or business issues;
- (e) Evaluation of the supervisory process, supervisee, and supervisor;
- (f) Discussion of the coordination of services among other professionals involved in particular work units;
- (g) Review of relevant Washington laws and rules and regulations;
- (h) Discussion of ethical principles including principles that apply to current work;
- (i) Review of standards for providers of psychological services;
- (j) Discussion of other relevant reading materials specific to cases, ethical issues, and the supervisory process.

(5) Mode of supervision. The nature of supervision will vary depending on the theoretical orientation of the supervisor, the training and experience of the supervisee, and the duration of the supervisory relationship. It is reasonable for a supervisor to ask for detailed process notes and progress reports. Audio tapes, video tapes, client supplied information such as behavioral ratings, and one-way mirror observations are also appropriate when deemed useful and/or necessary. However accomplished, supervision shall include some direct observation of the supervisee's work. The preferred mode of supervision is face-to-face discussion between supervisor and supervisee.

(6) Authority of supervisor. The supervisor is ethically and legally responsible for all supervisee work covered in the written agreement for supervision. Therefore, it is the authority of the supervisor to alter service plans or otherwise direct the course of psychological work.

(7) Written agreement for supervision. The supervisor and supervisee shall have a written agreement for supervision. This shall include:

- (a) The area(s) of professional activity in which supervision will occur;
- (b) Hours of supervision and/or ratio of supervisory hours or professional hours;
- (c) Supervisory fees, if appropriate;
- (d) Process of supervision including mode of supervision, expectations for recordkeeping, and expectations for evaluation and feedback;
- (e) Relevant business arrangements;
- (f) How the supervisee will represent him or herself;
- (g) How disagreements will be handled.

(8) Representation of supervisee to the public. It shall be the responsibility of the supervisee to represent him or herself to the consuming public as being in training status with a suitable supervisor. Clients shall be informed of the identity and responsibilities of the supervisor; and shall be informed of their right to consult or speak directly with the supervisor. Such titles as psychological resident, psychological intern or psychological supervisee, are deemed appropriate for the supervisee. NO services provided by the supervisee shall be represented to third parties as having been provided by the supervisor. Insurance forms should be filled out to indicate the nature of the supervisory relationship.

WAC 246-924-160 Continued supervision of persons receiving certificates of qualification. (1) The law states that the holder of a certificate of qualification must perform psychological functions "under the periodic direct supervision of a psychologist licensed by the board." The board's interpretation of this statement is that the psychological assistant is certified in tandem with a licensed psychologist and not in his or her own right. That is, the board will evaluate simultaneously the professional capabilities of the applicant and the qualifications of the licensed psychologist to supervise the assistant in the specific professional functions outlined by the assistant. The board's approval of an association between a psychological assistant and a licensed psychologist is done purely on an examination of the professional qualifications of the two parties concerned and on the execution of an agreement between the two of them as proposed supervisor and supervisee. The board in no way involves itself with the specific work conditions, fees, salaries, and related factors except insofar as they have a bearing on the quality of the professional relationship or services offered to the public.

(2) The applicant must indicate on the application form, in detail, his or her areas of intended practice. After initial screening (evaluation of the person's education, experience and supervision) and passing the national written examination, the applicant shall furnish the board with a plan for continued supervision which will include detailed information regarding the supervisor which indicates an agreement to supervise. The board will use this information in conjunction with the oral examination to assess the supervision plans.

(3) Minimum supervision shall entail discussion of the assistant's work through regularly scheduled contacts with the supervisor at appropriate intervals. Whenever possible, supervision should consist of occasional direct observation or review of taped case material. The supervisor shall be responsible for preparing evaluative reports of the assistant's performance, which will be forwarded to the division of professional licensing on a periodic basis.

(4) When a licensed psychologist assumes the responsibility of supervision, he or she shares the professional and ethical responsibility for the nature and quality of all of the psychological services as the assistant may provide. Failure to provide supervision when such a relationship is claimed may result in appropriate action against the license of the supervisor.

(5) Interruption or termination of a supervisory relationship shall be promptly communicated to the division of professional licensing.

(6) In every case where psychological testing is done and a report is written based on that testing by a psychological assistant, the supervising licensed psychologist will countersign the report indicating his approval.

(7) An applicant or holder of a certificate may apply to the board for authority to work without immediate supervision in particular areas of function. In these cases the board may require further evidence of proficiency. Even though the immediate supervision requirement is waived for the psychological affiliate, periodic supervisory consultation as deemed appropriate by the board is required. Evidence of supervisory consultation must be submitted to the division of professional licensing with the annual license fee.

Representations to clients. (1) Each client of the psychological assistant or psychological affiliate must be informed of the nature of the assistant's or affiliate's professional status, the function in which he or she is certified, and the fact that said assistant is under the supervision of a licensed psychologist.

(2) Only psychological affiliates may advertise their services (e.g. representations of themselves in telephone directories and announcements and on business cards). In doing so, the affiliate must list the functions for which he or she is certified and state his or her academic degree.

WAC 246-924-200 Continuing education--General requirements. The Washington state board of psychology examiners (hereafter referred to as the board) requires one hundred fifty credit hours of continuing psychological education (hereafter referred to as CPE) every three years. One clock hour of acceptable CPE activity equals one credit hour. Currently licensed psychologists will be divided into three groups, by birthdate[s], for ease in implementing CPE. Group I, those with birthdates falling in the months of January, February, March or April, will have 1 year to show evidence of 50 hours, Group II, those with birthdates falling in the months of May, June, July or August, will have 2 years to show evidence of 100 hours, and Group III, those with birthdates falling in the months of September, October, November or December, will have 3 years to show evidence of 150 hours. Groups I and II may distribute their hours in any of the categories without minimum or maximum category limitations. After implementation phase, all licensees will be on the 3 year cycle. All new psychologists licensed after the effective date will have 3 years to show evidence of 150 hours.

Any holder of certificate of qualification on February 1, 1986 will have 3 years from their birthdate following February 1, 1986, to show evidence of 150 hours. Any person issued a certificate of qualification after February 1, 1986 will have 3 years from the date of issuance to show evidence of 150 hours.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050, 91-04-021 (Order 129B), § 246-924-230, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91; 91-04-020 (Order 117B), recodified as § 246-924-230, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91; Order PL 276, § 308-122-515, filed 11/16/77.]

WAC 246-924-240 Definitions of categories of creditable CPE. (1) All CPE activities shall be directly relevant to maintaining or increasing professional or scientific competence in psychology. Courses or workshops primarily designed to increase practice income or office efficiency, while valuable to the licensee, are specifically noneligible for CPE credit. Recognized activities for Category I shall include:

(a) Courses, seminars, workshops and post-doctoral institutes offered by educational institutions chartered by a state and recognized (accredited) by a regional association of schools, colleges and universities as providing graduate level course offerings. Such educational activities shall be recorded on an official transcript or certificate of completion (see WAC 308-122-563).

(b) Courses (including correspondence courses), seminars, workshops and post-doctoral institutes sponsored by the American Psychological Association, the National Academy of Professional Psychologists, regional or state psychological associations or their subchapters, psychology internship training centers and other professionally or scientifically recognized behavioral science organizations such as, but not limited to, National Training Laboratories, National Association of Social Workers, Department of Veterans' Affairs, Regional Medical Education Centers, Western Psychological Association, Northwest Family Training Institute, Seattle Institute for Psychoanalytic Training.

(2) Recognized activities of Category II shall include:

(c) Teaching a specific course to psychology and other allied health students may be counted the first time it is taught. One classroom hour equals one CPE hour. The course may be counted only once.

(d) Supervising psychologists, psychology students, institutional staff, or other professionals or students from an institution with a formal teaching or training program, if the institution has approved the supervision, shall qualify for CPE on an hourly basis. Privately arranged supervision shall meet the professionally accepted standards of supervision.

Twenty-five hours may be earned for each such article or chapter. Editing the work of others is not acceptable for CPE credit.

(g) Attendance at or participation in professional meetings or conventions of national, regional, or state psychological associations or other professionally recognized behavioral science conventions. A maximum of five hours may be claimed for each convention or professional meeting.

WAC 246-924-250 Continuing education—Special considerations. In lieu (total or partial) of one hundred fifty hours of CPE the board may consider credit hour approval and acceptance of other programs as they are developed and implemented, such as:

(1) Compliance with a CPE program developed by the American Psychological Association which provides either a recognition award or certificate, may be evaluated and considered for partial or total fulfillment of the CPE credit hour requirements of the board.

(2) Psychologists licensed in the state of Washington but practicing in a different state or country which has a mandatory or voluntary CPE program may submit to the board evidence of completion of that other state's or country's CPE requirements for evaluation and partial or total credit hour approval.

(3) Psychologists licensed in the state of Washington but practicing in a state, U.S. territory or foreign country without CPE requirements, or who are not legally required to meet those CPE requirements, may submit evidence of their CPE activities pursued outside of Washington state directly to the board for evaluation and approval based on conformity to the board's CPE requirements.

(4) The board may also accept evidence of diplomate award by the American Board of Examiners in Professional Psychology (ABPP) in lieu of one hundred fifty hours of CPE for that three year period in which the diplomate was awarded.

(5) Credit hours may be earned for other specialty board or diploma certifications if and when such are established.

(6) All board members appointed after December 31, 1985 shall receive, for each year of service on the board, ten continuing education credits, to be applied in any category the board member chooses.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050. 91-04-020 (Order 117B), recodified as § 246-924-250, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91; Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050(5). 86-04-087 (Order PL 578), § 308-122-525, filed 2/5/86; Order PL 276, § 308-122-525, filed 11/16/77.]

WAC 246-924-260 Continuing education--Enforcement. Failure to meet above CPE requirements within each three year time period will result in nonrenewal of license. The licensee may petition the board for a hearing. License renewal will be based on decision of the board.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050. 91-04-020 (Order 117B), recodified as § 246-924-260, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91; Order PL 276, § 308-122-530, filed 11/16/77.]

WAC 246-924-270 Continuing education--Exemptions. In the event a licensee fails to meet requirements because of illness or retirement (with no further provision of psychological services to consumers) or failure to renew, or other extenuating circumstances, each case will be considered by the board on an individual basis. When circumstances justify it, the board may grant a time extension. In the case of permanent retirement or illness, the board may grant indefinite waiver of CPE as a requirement for relicensure, provided an affidavit is received indicating the psychologist is not providing psychological services to consumers. If such permanent illness or retirement status is changed (reversed) or consumer psychological services are resumed, it is incumbent upon the licensed psychologist to immediately notify the board and meet CPE requirements for relicensure. CPE credit hours will be prorated for the portion of that three year period involving resumption of such services.

WAC 246-924-280 Continuing education--Program or course approval. (1) The board will accept any CPE that reasonably falls within the above categories and requirements. The board relies upon each individual psychologist's integrity with the intent and spirit of the CPE requirements.

(2) CPE program sponsors or institutes should not apply for, nor expect to receive, prior or current board approval for Category I status, except as required by WAC 308-122-515 and 308-122-520. The CPE category in which credit hours may be claimed will be determined by the definitions as shown in WAC 308-122-520.

(3) The number of creditable hours may be determined by counting the actual contact hours of instruction or, in the case of workshops, the formal hours of the workshop.

Note: The board relies upon the integrity of program sponsors to present CPE that constitutes a professional and/or scientific learning experience of quality and pertinent to psychology.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050. 91-04-020 (Order 117B), recodified as § 246-924-280, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91; Order PL 276, § 308-122-540, filed 11/16/77.]

WAC 246-924-290 Continuing education--Certification of compliance. (1) In conjunction with the application for renewal of licensure, a licensee shall submit an affidavit of compliance with the one hundred fifty hours CPE requirement on a form supplied by the board.

(2) The board reserves the right to require any licensee to submit evidence, e.g., course or program certificate of training, transcript, course or workshop brochure description, evidence of attendance, etc., in addition to the affidavit form in order to demonstrate, compliance with the one hundred fifty hours CPE requirement. Therefore, it is the responsibility of each licensee to maintain records, certificates, or the other evidence of CPE compliance.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050. 91-04-020 (Order 117B), recodified as § 246-924-290, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91; Order PL 276, § 308-122-545, filed 11/16/77.]

WAC 246-924-300 Definition of acceptable documentation and proof of CPE. Licensees are responsible for acquiring and maintaining all acceptable documentation of their CPE activities.

Acceptable documentation for Category I CPE shall include transcripts, letters from course instructors, or certificate of completion or other formal certification. In all cases other than transcripts, the documentation must show the participant's name, the activity title, number of CPE credit hours, date(s) of activity, faculty's name(s) and degree and the signature of verifying individual (program sponsor).

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050. 91-04-021 (Order 129B), § 246-924-300, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91.]

WAC 246-924-310 Continuing education--Special considerations. (1) The board will accept evidence of diplomate award by the American Board of Examiners in Professional Psychology (ABPP) in lieu of one hundred fifty hours of CPE for that three year period in which the diplomate was awarded.

(2) Credit hours may be earned for other specialty board, education awards, or diploma certifications if and when such are established.

(3) Psychologists or psychological associates licensed in Washington state who wish to retain their Washington license, but are working and living in another state, United States territory or country, may submit evidence of their CPE activities pursued outside of Washington state directly to the board for evaluation and partial or total approval based on conformity to the board's CPE requirements.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050. 91-04-021 (Order 129B), § 246-924-310, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91.]

WAC 246-924-320 Continuing education--Enforcement. (1) Affidavit of compliance: Every third year, in conjunction with the application for renewal of license, a licensee shall submit an affidavit of compliance with the requirement of one hundred fifty hours of CPE on a form supplied by the board. Failure to submit such affidavit at licensure renewal time, or submission of the affidavit in such manner that CPE compliance cannot be determined by the board will result in denial of renewal of license. Subsequent renewal will be based on the decision of the board after compliance has been determined to be adequate.

(2) Audit: A percentage, which shall be determined by the board, of all licensees' affidavits submitted in conjunction with license renewal applications shall be regularly audited for supporting documentation by the board. Upon audit, it is the sole responsibility of the licensee to submit copies of the appropriate and acceptable documentation of completed CPE activities to the board. Failure to comply with the audit documentation request or failure to supply acceptable documentation within sixty days of the date of the audit request (in the absence of justification acceptable to the board) shall result in disciplinary action which shall remain in place until compliance is deemed acceptable by the board.

(3) Failure to meet the CPE requirements within each three-year cycle shall result in disciplinary action by the board. The licensee so disciplined may petition the board for a hearing. License reinstatement shall be based on decision of the board.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050. 91-04-021 (Order 129B), § 246-924-320, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91.]

WAC 246-924-330 Continuing education--Exemptions. In the event a licensee fails to meet requirements, because of illness, retirement (with no further provision of psychological services to consumers), failure to renew, or other extenuating circumstances, each case will be considered by the board on an individual basis. When circumstances justify it, the board may grant a time extension. The board may, in its discretion, limit in part or in whole the provision of psychological services to the consumers until the CPE requirements are met. In the case of retirement or illness, the board may grant indefinite waiver of CPE as a requirement for relicensure, provided an affidavit is received indicating the psychologist is not providing psychological services to consumers. If such illness or retirement status is changed or consumer psychological services are resumed, it is incumbent upon the licensee to immediately notify the board and to resume meeting CPE requirements for relicensure. CPE credit hours will be prorated for the portion of that three year period involving resumption of such services.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050. 91-04-021 (Order 129B), § 246-924-330, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91.]

WAC 246-924-340 Continuing education--Program or course approval. (1) The board will accept CPE that meets the requirements of this chapter. The board relies upon each individual licensee's integrity and the integrity of CPE providers to comply with the intent and spirit of the CPE requirements.

(2) CPE program sponsors or institutes should not apply for, nor expect to receive, prior or current board approval for CPE status or category.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050. 91-04-021 (Order 129B), § 246-924-340, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91.]

WAC 246-924-350 Code of ethics--General considerations. Psychologists respect the dignity and worth of the individual and strive for the preservation and protection of fundamental human rights. They are committed to increasing knowledge of human behavior and of people's understanding of themselves and others and to the utilization of such knowledge for the promotion of human welfare. While pursuing these objectives, they make every effort to protect the welfare of those who seek their services of the research participants that may be the object of study. They use their skills only for purposes consistent with these values and do not knowingly permit their misuse by others. While demanding for themselves freedom of inquiry and communication, psychologists accept the responsibility this freedom requires: Competence, objectivity in the application of skills, and concerns for the best interests of clients, colleagues, students, research participants, and society. In the pursuit of these ideals, psychologists subscribe to principles in the following areas: 1. Responsibility, 2. Competence, 3. Public statements, 4. Confidentiality, 5. Welfare of the consumer, 6. Professional relationships, 7. Assessment techniques, 8. Research with human participants, and 9. Care and use of animals.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050. 91-04-020 (Order 117B), re-codified as § 246-924-350, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050(5). 85-06-044 (Order PL 522), § 308-122-600, filed 3/5/85.]

WAC 246-924-360 Responsibility. In providing services, psychologists maintain the highest standards of their profession. They accept responsibility for the consequences of their acts and make every effort to ensure that their services are used appropriately.

(1) As scientists, psychologists accept responsibility for the selection of their research topics and the methods used in investigation, analysis, and reporting. They plan their research in ways to minimize the possibility that their findings will be misleading. They provide thorough discussion of the limitations of their data, especially where their work touches on social policy or might be construed to the detriment of persons in specific age, sex, ethnic, socioeconomic, or other social groups. In publishing reports of their work, they never suppress disconfirming data, and they acknowledge the existence of alternative hypotheses and explanations of their findings. Psychologists take credit only for work they have actually done.

(2) Psychologists clarify in advance with all appropriate persons and agencies the expectations for sharing and utilizing research data. They avoid relationships that may limit their objectivity or create a conflict of interest. Interference with the milieu in which data are collected is kept to a minimum.

(3) Psychologists have the responsibility to attempt to prevent distortion, misuse, or suppression of psychological findings by the institution or agency of which they are employees.

(4) As members of governmental or other organizational bodies, psychologists remain accountable as individuals to the highest standards of their profession.

(5) As teachers, psychologists recognize their primary obligation to help others acquire knowledge and skill. They maintain high standards of scholarship by presenting psychological information objectively, fully, and accurately.

(6) As practitioners, psychologists know that they bear a heavy social responsibility because their recommendations and professional actions may alter the lives of others. They are alert to personal, social, organizational, financial, or political situations and pressures that might lead to misuse of their influence.

(7) Psychologists do not employ psychological techniques for entertainment, nor for other purposes inconsistent with the development of psychology as a science.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050. 91-04-020 (Order 117B), re-codified as § 246-924-360, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050(5). 85-06-044 (Order PL 522), § 308-122-610, filed 3/5/85.]

WAC 246-924-370 Competence. The maintenance of high standards of competence is a responsibility shared by all psychologists in the interest of the public and the profession as a whole. Psychologists recognize the boundaries of their competence and the limitations of their techniques. They only provide services and only use techniques for which they are qualified by training and experience. In those areas in which recognized standards do not yet exist, psychologists take whatever precautions are necessary to protect the welfare of their clients. They maintain knowledge of current scientific and professional information related to the services they render.

(1) Psychologists accurately represent their competence, education, training, and experience.

(2) As teachers, psychologists perform their duties on the basis of careful preparation so that their instruction is accurate, current, and scholarly.

(3) Psychologists recognize the need for continuing education and are open to new procedures and changes in expectations and values over time.

(4) Psychologists recognize differences among people, such as those that may be associated with age, sex, socioeconomic, and ethnic backgrounds. When necessary, they obtain training, experience, or counsel to assure competent service or research relating to such persons.

(5) Psychologists responsible for decisions involving individuals or policies based on test results have an understanding of psychological or educational measurement, validation problems, and test research.

(6) Psychologists recognize that personal problems and conflicts may interfere with professional effectiveness. Accordingly, they refrain from undertaking any activity in which their personal problems are likely to lead to inadequate performance or harm to a client, colleague, student, or research participant. If engaged in such activity when they become aware of their personal problems, they seek competent professional assistance to determine whether they should suspend, terminate, or limit the scope of their professional and/or scientific activities.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050. 91-04-020 (Order 117B), re-codified as § 246-924-370, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050(5). 85-06-044 (Order PL 522), § 308-122-620, filed 3/5/85.]

WAC 246-924-380 Moral and legal standards. Psychologists' moral and ethical standards of behavior are a personal matter to the same degree as they are for any other citizen, except as these may compromise the fulfillment of their professional responsibilities or reduce the public trust in psychology and psychologists. Regarding their own behavior, psychologists are sensitive to prevailing community standards and to the possible impact that conformity to or deviation from these standards may have upon the quality of their performance as psychologists. Psychologists are also aware of the possible impact of their public behavior upon the ability of colleagues to perform their professional duties.

(1) As teachers, psychologists are aware of the fact that their personal values may affect the selection and presentation of instructional materials. When dealing with topics that may give offense, they recognize and respect the diverse attitudes that students may have toward such materials.

(2) As employees or employers, psychologists do not engage in or condone practices that are inhumane or that result in illegal or unjustifiable actions. Such practices include, but are not limited to, those based on considerations of race, handicap, age, gender, sexual orientation relating to competent, consenting adults, religion, or national origin in hiring, promotion, or training. Sexual orientation shall not be construed to include activities or practices which are illegal, pathological or abusive.

(3) In their professional roles, psychologists avoid any action that will violate or diminish the legal and civil rights of clients or of others who may be affected by their actions.

(4) As practitioners and researchers, psychologists act in accord with current professional standards and guidelines related to practice and to the conduct of research with human beings and animals. In the ordinary course of events, psychologists adhere to relevant governmental laws and institutional regulations. When federal, state, provincial, organizational, or institutional laws, regulations, or practices are in conflict with professional standards and guidelines, psychologists made known their commitment to professional standards and guidelines and, wherever possible, work toward a resolution of the conflict. Both practitioners and researchers are concerned with the development of such legal and quasi-legal regulations as best serve the public interest, and they work toward changing existing regulations that are not beneficial to the public interest.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050. 91-04-020 (Order 117B), re-codified as § 246-924-380, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050(5). 86-04-087 (Order PL 578), § 308-122-630, filed 2/5/86.]

WAC 246-924-390 Public statements. Public statements, announcements of service, advertising, and promotional activities of psychologists serve the purpose of helping the public make informed judgments and choice. Psychologists represent accurately and objectively their professional qualifications, affiliations, and functions, as well as those of the institutions or organizations with which they or the statements may be associated. In public statements providing psychological information or professional opinions or providing information about the availability of psychological products, publications, and services, psychologists base their statements on scientifically acceptable psychological findings and techniques with full recognition of the limits and uncertainties of such evidence.

(1) When announcing or advertising professional services, psychologists may list the following information to describe the provider and services provided: Name, highest relevant academic degree earned from a regionally accredited institution, date, type, and level of certification or licensure, diplomate status, professional association status, address, telephone number, office hours, a brief listing of the type of psychological services offered, an appropriate presentation of fee information, foreign languages spoken, and policy with regard to third-party payments. Additional relevant or important consumer information may be included if not prohibited by other sections of these ethical principles.

(2) In announcing or advertising the availability of psychological products, publications, or services, psychologists do not present their affiliation with any organization in a manner which falsely implies sponsorship or certification of that organization. Public statements include, but are not limited to, communication by means of periodical, book, list, directory, television, radio, or motion picture. They do not contain

(a) A false, fraudulent, misleading, deceptive, or unfair statement;

(b) A misinterpretation of fact or a statement likely to mislead or deceive because in context it makes only a partial disclosure of relevant facts;

(c) A statement intended or likely to create false or unjustified expectations of favorable results;

(d) A statement intended or likely to appeal to a client's fears, anxieties, or emotions concerning the possible results of failure to obtain the offered services.

Psychologists do not use power, influence or offers of compensation to solicit testimonials from clients.

(3) Psychologists do not compensate or give anything of value to a representative of the press, radio, television, or other communication medium in anticipation of or in return for professional publicity in a news item. A paid advertisement must be identified as such, unless it is apparent from the context that it is a paid advertisement. If communicated to the public by use of radio or television, an advertisement is prerecorded and approved for broadcast by the psychologist, and a recording of the actual transmission is retained by the psychologist.

(4) Announcements or advertisements of "personal growth groups," clinics, and agencies give a clear statement of purpose and a clear description of the experiences to be provided. The education, training, and experience of the staff members are appropriately specified.

(5) Psychologists associated with the development or promotion of psychological devices, books, or other products offered for commercial sale make reasonable efforts to ensure that announcements and advertisements are presented in a professional, scientifically acceptable, and factually informative manner.

(6) Psychologists present the science of psychology and offer their services, products, and publications fairly and accurately, avoiding misrepresentation through sensationalism, exaggeration, or superficiality. Psychologists are guided by the primary obligation to aid the public in developing informed judgments, opinions, and choices.

(7) As teachers, psychologists ensure that statements in catalogs and course outlines are accurate and not misleading, particularly in terms of subject matter to be covered, bases for evaluating progress, and the nature of course experiences. Announcements, brochures, or advertisements describing workshops, seminars, or other educational programs accurately describe the audience for which the program is intended as well as eligibility requirements, educational objectives, and nature of the materials to be covered. These announcements also accurately represent the education, training, and experience of the psychologists presenting the programs and any fees involved.

(8) Public announcements or advertisements soliciting research participants in which clinical services or other professional services are offered as an inducement make clear the nature of the services as well as the costs and other obligations to be accepted by participants in the research.

(9) A psychologist accepts the obligation to correct others who represent the psychologist's professional qualifications, or associations with products or services, in a manner incompatible with these guidelines.

(10) Individual diagnostic and therapeutic services are provided only in the context of a professional psychological relationship. When personal advice is given by means of public lectures or demonstrations, newspaper or similar media, the psychologist utilizes the most current relevant data and exercises the highest level of professional judgment.

(11) Products that are described or presented by means of public lectures or demonstrations, newspaper or magazine articles, radio or television programs, or similar media meet the same recognized standards as exist for products used in the context of a professional relationship.

WAC 246-924-400 Confidentiality. Psychologists have a primary obligation to respect the confidentiality of information obtained from persons in the course of their work as psychologists. They reveal such information to others only with the consent of the person or the person's legal representative, except in those unusual circumstances in which not to do so would result in clear danger to the person or to others. Where appropriate, psychologists inform their clients of the legal limits of confidentiality.

(1) Information obtained in clinical or consulting relationships or evaluative data concerning children, students, employees, and others, is discussed only for professional purposes and only with persons clearly concerned with the case. Written and oral reports present only data germane to the purposes of the evaluation, and every effort is made to avoid undue invasion of privacy.

(2) Psychologists who present personal information obtained during the course of professional work in writings, lectures, or other public forums either obtain adequate prior consent to do so or adequately disguise all identifying information.

(3) Psychologists make provisions for maintaining confidentiality in the storage and disposal of records.

(4) When working with minors or other persons who are unable to give voluntary, informed consent, psychologists take special care to protect these persons' best interests.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050, 91-04-020 (Order 117B), recodified as § 246-924-400, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050(5), 85-06-044 (Order PL 522), § 308-122-650, filed 3/5/85.]

WAC 246-924-410 Welfare of the consumer. Psychologists respect the integrity and protect the welfare of the people and groups with whom they work. When conflicts of interest arise between clients and psychologists' employing institutions, psychologists clarify the nature and direction of their loyalties and responsibilities and keep all parties informed of their commitments.

Psychologists must inform consumers as to the purpose and nature of an evaluation, treatment, educational, or training procedure, and they freely acknowledge that clients, students, or participants in research have freedom of choice with regard to participation.

(1) Psychologists are continually cognizant of their own needs and of their potentially influential position vis-a-vis persons such as clients, students, and subordinates. They avoid exploiting the trust and dependency of such persons. Psychologists make every effort to avoid dual relationships that could impair their professional judgment or increase the risk of exploitation. Examples of such dual relationships include, but are not limited to, research with and treatment of employees, students, supervisees, close friends, or relatives. Sexual intimacies with clients are unethical.

(2) When a psychologist agrees to provide services to a client at the request of a third party, the psychologist assumes the responsibility of clarifying the nature of the relationships to all parties concerned.

(3) Where the demands of an organization require psychologists to violate this code of ethics, psychologists clarify the nature of the conflict between the demands and these principles. They inform all parties of psychologists' ethical responsibilities and take appropriate action.

(4) Psychologists make advance financial arrangements that safeguard the best interests of and are clearly understood by their clients. When a client is referred, the psychologist fully informs the client of all financial and other arrangements.

(5) Psychologists terminate a clinical or consulting relationship when it is reasonably clear that the consumer is not benefiting from it. They offer to help the consumer locate alternative sources of assistance.

(6) Psychologists do not offer psychological services entirely by mail. They do not use or utilize mechanical devices alone in the interpretation of test results.

(7) Psychologists do not use untrained personnel for provision of psychological services.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050, 91-04-021 (Order 129B), § 246-924-410, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91; 91-04-020 (Order 117B), recodified as § 246-924-410, filed 1/28/91, effective 2/28/91. Statutory Authority: RCW 18.83.050(5), 85-06-044 (Order PL 522), § 308-122-660, filed 3/5/85.]

WAC 246-924-420 Professional relationships. Psychologists act with due regard for the needs, special competencies, and obligations of their colleagues in psychology and other professions. They respect the prerogatives and obligations of the institutions or organizations with which these other colleagues are associated.

(1) Psychologists understand the areas of competence of related professions. They make full use of all the professional, technical, and administrative resources that serve the best interests of consumers. The absence of formal relationships with other professional workers does not relieve psychologists of the responsibility of securing for their clients the best possible professional service, nor does it relieve them of the obligation to exercise foresight, diligence, and tact in obtaining the complementary or alternative assistance needed by clients.

(2) Psychologists know and take into account the traditions and practices of other professional groups with whom they work and cooperate fully with such groups. If a psychologist is contacted by a person who is already receiving similar services from another professional, the psychologist carefully considers that professional relationship and proceed with caution and sensitivity to the therapeutic issues as well as the client's welfare. The psychologist discusses these issues with the client so as to minimize the risk of confusion and conflict.

(3) Psychologists who employ or supervise other professionals or professionals in training accept the obligation to facilitate the further professional development of these individuals. They provide appropriate working conditions, timely evaluations, constructive consultation, and experience opportunities.

(4) Psychologists do not exploit their professional relationships with clients, supervisees, students, employees, or research participants sexually or otherwise. Psychologists do not condone or engage in sexual harassment. Sexual harassment is defined as deliberate or repeated comments, gestures, or physical contacts of a sexual nature that are unwanted by the recipient or that create for the recipient an intimidating, hostile, or offensive environment.

(5) In conducting research in institutions or organizations, psychologists secure appropriate authorization to conduct such research. They are aware of their obligations to future research workers and ensure that host institutions receive adequate information about the research and proper acknowledgment of their contributions.

(6) Publication credit is assigned to those who have contributed to a publication in proportion to their professional contributions. Major contributions of a professional character made by several persons to a common project are recognized by joint authorship, with the individual who made the principal contribution listed first. Minor contributions of a professional character and extensive clerical or similar nonprofessional assistance may be acknowledged in footnotes or in an introductory statement. Acknowledgement through specific citations is made for unpublished as well as published material that has directly influenced the research or writing. Psychologists who compile and edit material of others for publication, publish the material in the name of the originating group, if appropriate, with their own name appearing as chairperson or editor. All contributors are to be acknowledged and named.

WAC 246-924-430 Assessment techniques. In the development, publication, and utilization of psychological assessment techniques, psychologists make every effort to promote the welfare and best interests of the client. They guard against the misuse of assessment results. They respect the client's right to know the results, the interpretations made, and the bases for their conclusions and recommendations. Psychologists make every effort to maintain the security of tests and other assessment techniques within limits of legal mandates. They strive to ensure the appropriate use of assessment techniques by others.

(1) In using assessment techniques, psychologists respect the right of clients to have full explanations of the nature and purpose of the techniques in language the clients can understand, unless an explicit exception to the right has been agreed upon in advance. When the explanations are to be provided by others, psychologists establish procedures for ensuring the adequacy of these explanations.

(2) Psychologists responsible for the development and standardization of psychological test and other assessment techniques utilize established scientific procedures and observe the 1974 American Psychological Association standards.

(3) In reporting assessment results, psychologists indicate any reservations that exist regarding validity or reliability because of the circumstances of the assessments or the inappropriateness of the norms for the person tested. Psychologists strive to ensure that the results of assessments and their interpretations are not misused by others.

(4) Psychologists recognize that assessment results may become obsolete. They make every effort to avoid and prevent the misuse of obsolete measures.

(5) Psychologists offering scoring and interpretation services are able to produce appropriate evidence for the validity of the programs and procedures used in arriving at interpretations. The public offering of an automated interpretation service is considered a professional-to-professional consultation. Psychologists make every effort to avoid misuse of assessments reports.

(6) Psychologists do not encourage or promote the use of psychological assessment techniques by inappropriately trained or otherwise unqualified persons through teaching, sponsorship, or supervision.

WAC 246-924-440 Research with human participants. The decision to undertake research rests upon a considered judgment by the individual psychologist about how best to contribute to psychological science and human welfare. Having made the decision to conduct research, the psychologist considers alternative directions in which research energies and resources might be invested. On the basis of this consideration, the psychologist carries out the investigation with respect and concern for the dignity and welfare of the people who participate and with cognizance of federal and state regulations and professional standards governing the conduct of research with human participants.

(1) In planning a study, the investigator has the responsibility to make a careful evaluation of its ethical acceptability. To the extent that the weighing of scientific and human values suggests a compromise of any principle, the investigator incurs a correspondingly serious obligation to seek ethical advice and to observe stringent safeguards to protect the rights of human participants.

(2) Considering whether a participant in a planned study will be a "subject at risk" or a "subject at minimal risk," according to recognized standards, is of primary ethical concern to the investigator.

(3) The investigator always retains the responsibility for ensuring ethical practice in research. The investigator is also responsible for the ethical treatment of research participants by collaborators, assistants, students, and employees, all of whom, however, incur similar obligations.

(4) Except in minimal-risk research, the investigator establishes a clear and fair agreement with research participants, prior to their participation, that clarifies the obligations and responsibilities of each. The investigator has the obligation to honor all promises and commitments included in that agreement. The investigator informs the participants of all aspects of the research that might reasonably be expected to influence willingness to participate and explains all other aspects of the research about which the participants inquire. Failure to make full disclosure prior to obtaining informed consent requires additional safeguards to protect the welfare and dignity of the research participants. Research with children or with participants who have impairments that would limit understanding and/or communication requires special safeguarding procedures.

(5) Methodological requirements of a study may make the use of concealment or deception necessary. Before conducting such a study, the investigator has a special responsibility to

(a) Determine whether the use of such techniques is justified by the study's prospective scientific, educational, or applied value;

(b) Determine whether alternative procedures are available that do not use concealment or deception; and

(c) Ensure that the participants are provided with sufficient explanation as soon as possible.

(6) The investigator respects the individual's freedom to decline to participate in or to withdraw from the research at any time. The obligation to protect this freedom requires careful thought and consideration when the investigator is in a position of authority or influence over the participant. Such positions of authority include, but are not limited to, situations in which research participation is required as part of employment or in which the participant is a student, client, or employee of the investigator.

(7) The investigator protects the participant from physical and mental discomfort, harm, and danger that may arise from research procedures. If risks of such consequences exist, the investigator informs the participant of the fact. Research procedures likely to cause serious or lasting harm to a participant are not used unless the failure to use the procedures might expose the participant to risk of greater harm, or unless the research has great potential benefit and fully informed and voluntary consent is obtained from such participant. The participant should be informed of procedures for contacting the investigator within a reasonable time period following participation should stress, potential harm, or related questions or concerns arise.

(8) After the data are collected, the investigator provides the participant with information about the nature of the study and attempts to remove any misconceptions that may have arisen. Where scientific or human values justify delaying or withholding this information, the investigator incurs a special responsibility to monitor the research and to ensure that there are no damaging consequences for the participant.

(9) Where research procedures result in undesirable consequences for the individual participant, the investigator has the responsibility to detect and remove or correct these consequences, including long-term effects.

(10) Information obtained about a research participant during the course of an investigation is confidential unless otherwise agreed upon in advance. When the possibility exists that others may obtain access to such information, this possibility, together with the plans for protecting confidentiality, is explained to the participant as part of the procedure for obtaining informed consent.

WAC 246-924-450 Care and use of animals. An investigator of animal behavior strives to advance understanding of basic behavior principles and/or to contribute to the improvement of human health and welfare. In seeking these ends, the investigator ensures the welfare of animals and treats them humanely. Laws and regulations notwithstanding, an animal's immediate protection depends upon the scientist's own conscience.

(1) The acquisition, care, use, and disposal of all animals are in compliance with current federal, state or provincial, and local laws and regulations.

(2) A psychologist trained in research methods and experienced in the care of laboratory animals closely supervises all procedures involving animals and is responsible for ensuring appropriate consideration of their comfort, health, and humane treatment.

(3) Psychologists ensure that all individuals using animals under their supervision have received explicit instruction in experimental methods and in the care, maintenance, and handling of the species being used. Responsibilities and activities of individuals participating in a research project are consistent with their respective competencies.

(4) Psychologists make every effort to minimize discomfort, illness, and pain of animals. A procedure subjecting animals to pain, stress, or privation is used only when an alternative procedure is unavailable and the goal is justified by its prospective scientific, educational, or applied value. Surgical procedures are performed under appropriate anesthesia; techniques to avoid infection and minimize pain are followed during and after surgery.

(5) When it is appropriate that the animal's life be terminated, it is done rapidly and painlessly.

(1) A certificant must comply with a request for records, documents, or explanation from an investigator who is acting on behalf of the secretary of the department of health by submitting the requested items within fourteen calendar days of receipt of the request by either the certificant or their attorney, whichever is first. If the certificant fails to comply with the request within fourteen calendar days, the investigator will contact that individual or their attorney by telephone or letter as a reminder.

(3) If the certificant fails to comply with the request within three business days after receiving the reminder, a subpoena will be served to obtain the requested items. WAC 246-930-010 General definitions. Whenever used in these rules, unless expressly otherwise stated, or unless the context or subject matter requires a different meaning, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

- (1) "Department" means the department of health, professional licensing services division.
- (2) "Secretary" means the secretary of the department of health, or designee.
- (3) "Provider" means sex offender treatment provider.
- (4) "Affiliate" means affiliate sex offender treatment provider.
- (5) "Committee" means the sex offender treatment providers advisory committee.
- (6) "Credential" or its derivative means the process of licensing, registration, certification[,], or the equivalent through which a person is legally recognized by a state agency as lawfully authorized to practice a health profession.

(7) [For purposes of determining eligibility for certification,] "Evaluation" is defined as the direct provision of comprehensive evaluation and assessment services to persons who have been investigated by law enforcement or child protective services for commission of a sex offense, or who have been adjudicated or convicted of a sex offense. Such services must have resulted in preparation of a formal written report. To qualify, the individual must have had primary responsibility for interviewing the offender and must have completed the written report. Only face-to-face contact with a client may be counted for evaluation credit. Evaluation hours performed by affiliate providers under the supervision of fully certified providers count toward certification under this definition. Note that limited assessments for the purpose of institution classification, treatment monitoring, and reporting do not qualify for evaluation credit under this definition. [Standards for evaluation by certified providers are set forth in WAC 246-930-320.]

(8) [For purposes of determining eligibility for certification] "Treatment" is defined as the direct provision of face-to-face individual, group, or family therapy with persons who have been investigated by law enforcement or child protective services for commission of a sex offense, or who have been adjudicated or convicted of a sex offense. The professional must have had formal responsibility for provision of primary treatment services, and such services must have had direct relevance to a client's offending behavior. Treatment hours performed by affiliate providers under the supervision of fully certified providers count toward certification under this definition. "Co-therapy hours" are defined as the actual number of hours the applicant spent facilitating a group session. Co-therapists may both claim credit for therapy hours as long as both persons have formal responsibility for the group sessions. Time spent in maintaining collateral contacts and written case/progress notes can not be counted under this definition.

(9) A "fully certified sex offender treatment provider" is an applicant who has met the educational, experience and training requirements as specified for full certification, has satisfactorily passed the examination, and been issued a certification to evaluate and treat sex offenders pursuant to chapter 18.155 RCW.

(10) An "affiliate sex offender treatment provider" is an applicant who has met the educational, experience and training requirements as specified for affiliate certification applicants, and has satisfactorily passed the examination. An affiliate sex offender treatment provider evaluates and treats sex offenders pursuant to chapter 18.155 RCW under the supervision of a fully certified sex offender treatment provider in accordance with the supervision requirements set forth in WAC 246-930-075.

(12) "SSODA["] is special sex offender disposition alternative.

[(13) "Supervising officer" means the designated representative of the agency having oversight responsibility for a client sentenced under SSOSA or SSODA, under the sentence or disposition order, e.g. community correction officer.

(14) "Evaluation treatment plan" the plan set forth in the evaluation detailing how the treatment needs of the client might be met and the community protected during the course of treatment.

(15) "Provider client contract" the document specifying the treatment rules and requirements the client has agreed to follow in order to maximize community safety.]

(f) Evidence to show compliance with the AIDS education requirement:

WAC 246-930-075 Supervision of affiliates. Supervision of affiliates is considerably different than consultation. Consultation is solely advisory; the consultant does not assume responsibility for those individuals to whom they consult. Supervision of affiliates requires that the provider take full ethical and legal responsibility for the professional work and for the quality of work of the affiliate. The following rules apply to providers and affiliates when service is being provided to SSOSA and SSODA clients:

(1) Whether providing training, consultation, or supervision, sex offender treatment providers shall avoid presenting themselves as having qualifications in areas where they do not have expertise.

(2) The supervisor shall provide sufficient training and supervision to the affiliate to insure the health and safety of the client and community. The supervisor shall have the expertise and knowledge to directly supervise the work of the affiliate.

(3) The supervisor shall insure that any person he or she supervises has sufficient education, background, and preparation for the work they will be doing.

(4) Supervision of an affiliate shall require that the supervisor and supervisee enter into a formal written contract defining the parameters of the professional relationship. This supervision contract shall be submitted to the department for approval and will be renewed on a yearly basis. This document shall include, but is not limited to:

(a) The areas of professional activity for which supervision will occur.

(b) The amount of supervision time and frequency of supervisory meetings to be provided. This information can be presented as a ratio of supervisory time to clinical work conducted by the affiliate.

(c) The supervisory fees and business arrangements, when applicable.

(d) The nature of the supervisory relationship and the anticipated process of supervision.

(e) The manner in which clinical cases will be selected and reviewed.

(f) The methodology for recordkeeping, evaluation of the affiliate, and feedback.

(g) The manner in which the affiliate shall be represented to the public.

(5) Supervision of affiliates shall involve regular, direct, on-site supervision. Supervision shall include a reasonable degree of direct observation by means of the supervisor sitting in sessions, audio tape recording, videotape, etc. However, it is recognized that certain geographic locales do not have sufficient resources to enable immediate, direct supervision of affiliates. In these cases special flexible supervision arrangements which deviate from the standard are encouraged; these special supervision contracts shall be submitted to the department for approval.

(6) The level of supervision provided shall insure the affiliate's preparedness to conduct his or her professional work and provide adequate oversight. There shall be a minimum of one hour of supervision time for every ten hours of supervised professional work. Supervision meetings shall regularly occur at least every other week.

(7) A certified sex offender provider shall undertake no supervision which exceeds the provider's ability to comply with supervision standards. A supervisor shall not supervise more than thirty hours of SSOSA and SSODA case clinical work each week.

(8) Generally, a supervisor shall not provide supervision for more than two affiliates. However, the special needs of certain locales, particularly rural areas, are recognized. Where appropriate, deviation from the standards for amount of supervision time, frequency of supervision, and limitations on supervision by a supervisor are encouraged if quality of supervision can be maintained. Special supervisory arrangements shall be submitted for approval as part of the supervision contract to the department. As necessary, a supervisor can adjust a supervision plan, but shall notify the department of the amendment to the contract.

(9) The status of the affiliate's relationship to the supervisor is to be accurately communicated to the public, other professionals, and to all clients served.

(10) An affiliate sex offender treatment provider shall represent themselves as an affiliate only when they are doing clinical work supervised by their contracted sex offender treatment provider. If the affiliate is providing unsupervised clinical services to clients who are not SSOSA or SSODA cases, the individual shall not utilize the title "affiliate" in that context.

(11) All written reports and correspondence conducted by the affiliate under SSOSA or SSODA shall be cosigned by the supervisor, indicating the supervisory relationship. The work will be represented as conducted by the affiliate and with oversight provided by the supervisor.

(12) All work relating to SSOSA and SSODA clients, conducted by the affiliate, will be the responsibility of the supervisor. The supervisor will have full authority over the practice of the affiliate involving SSOSA and SSODA clients.

(13) Supervision will include, but is not limited to:

(a) Discussion of services provided by the affiliate.

(b) Case selection, service plan, and review of each case or work unit of the affiliate.

(c) Discussions regarding theory and practice regarding the work being conducted.

(d) Review of Washington statutes, rules, and criminal justice procedures relevant to the work being conducted.

(e) Discussion of the standards of practice for providers as adopted by the department and the ethical issues involved in providing professional services for sex offenders.

(f) Discussion regarding coordination of work with other professionals.

(g) Discussion of relevant professional literature and research.

(h) Periodic review of the supervision itself.

(14) Both the supervisor and affiliate shall maintain full documentation of the work done and supervision provided.

(15) Timely evaluation of the affiliate's work and professional progress shall be provided by the supervisor.

(16) If the work of the supervisee does not meet sufficient standards to protect the best interests of the clients and the community, it is the responsibility of the supervisor to remediate the problems or terminate the supervision contract. If a supervision contract is terminated, the supervisor shall notify the department and provide the department with a letter of explanation.

(17) Supervision is a power relationship and the supervisee-supervisor relationship is not to be exploited. This standard in no way precludes reasonable compensation for supervisory services.

(18) It is the responsibility of the supervisor to provide, on request, accurate and objective letters of reference and work documentation regarding the affiliate, when requested by affiliate.

(19) If a supervisee is in the employ of a provider it is the responsibility of the supervisor to provide:

(a) Appropriate working conditions.

(b) Opportunities to further their skills and professional development.

(c) Consultation in all areas of professional practice appropriate to their employment.

(20) All records of both affiliate and supervisor shall be subject to audit to determine compliance with appropriate statutes and rules.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.155.040. 91-21-035 (Order 201), § 246-930-075, filed 10/10/91, effective 11/10/91.]

WAC 246-930-301 Purpose--Professional standards and ethics. (1) The following standards apply to sex offender treatment providers (SOTP) while evaluating or treating SSOSA or SSODA clients.

(2) Sex offender treatment providers (SOTP) must be otherwise credentialed health professionals, and are subject to the standards of practice of their primary field of practice. However, standards of practice vary from profession to profession, and sex offender evaluation and treatment represents significant differences in practice from general mental health interventions.

(3) Given the uniqueness of this area of practice, the degree of control that a provider exercises over the lives of clients, and the community protection issues inherent in this work, standards of practice specific to this area of specialization are necessary.

(4) The purpose of these rules is to establish standards of practice for sex offender treatment providers (SOTP). Failure to comply with these standards in providing evaluation of or treatment to clients sentenced under SSOSA or SSODA may constitute unprofessional conduct pursuant to RCW 18.130.180(7).

[Statutory Authority: RCW 18.155.040. 91-23-076 (Order 212), § 246-930-301, filed 11/19/91, effective 12/20/91.]

WAC 246-930-310 Standards for professional conduct and client relationships. (1) General considerations. Sex offender treatment providers (SOTP/provider) shall:

(a) Protect the public and report to the department of health unethical, incompetent and dishonorable practices by other sex offender treatment providers.

(b) Not discriminate against clients with regard to race, religion, gender or disability.

(c) Treat clients with dignity and respect, regardless of the nature of their crimes or offenses.

(2) Competence in practice. Providers shall:

(a) Be fully aware of the standards of their area of credentialing as a health professional and adhere to those standards.

(b) Be knowledgeable of statutes and scientific data relevant to this area of specialized practice.

(c) Be familiar with the general statutory requirements for assessments, treatment plans and reports for the court for sex offender special sentencing alternative (SSOSA) and special sex offender disposition alternative (SSODA).

(d) Perform professional duties with the highest level of integrity, maintaining confidentiality within the scope of statutory responsibilities.

(e) Be committed to community protection and safety.

(f) Not make claims regarding the efficacy of treatment that exceed what can be reasonably expected.

(g) Make appropriate referrals when they are not qualified or are otherwise unable to offer services to a client.

(h) Exercise due prudence and care in making referral to other professionals.

(3) Confidentiality. Providers shall:

(a) Insure that the client fully understands the scope and limits of confidentiality, and the relevance to the client's particular situation. The provider shall inform the client of the provider's method of reporting disclosures of the client and to whom disclosures are made, before evaluation and treatment commences, and update periodically, thereafter.

(b) Inform clients of any circumstances which may trigger an exception to the agreed upon confidentiality.

(c) Not require or seek waivers of privacy or confidentiality beyond the requirements of treatment, training, or community safety. Providers will evaluate the impact of authorizations for release of information upon their clients.

(d) Understand and explain to their juvenile clients the rights of their parents and/or guardians to obtain information relating to the client.

(4) Conflict of interest. Providers shall:

(a) Refrain from using professional relationships to further their personal, religious, political, or economic interest other than accepting customary fees.

(b) Avoid relationships with clients which may constitute a conflict of interest, impair professional judgment and risk exploitation. (For example, bartering, service for service, and/or treating individuals where a social, business, or personal relationship exists.)

(c) Refrain from sexual relationships with a client.

(5) Fee-setting and client interaction. Providers shall:

(a) Prior to commencing service, fully inform the client of the scope of professional services to be provided and the fees associated with the services.

(b) Review any changes in financial arrangements and requirements with the client pursuant to the rules initially specified.

(c) Neither offer nor accept payment for referral.

(6) Termination or alteration of therapist/client relationship. Providers shall:

(a) Not withdraw services to clients in a precipitous manner and shall take care to minimize possible adverse effects on the client and the community.

(b) Notify clients promptly when termination or disruptions of services are anticipated, and provide for a transfer, referral or continuation of service consistent with client needs and preferences, when appropriate.

(c) Refrain from knowingly providing treatment services to a client who is in treatment with another health care professional without initial consultation with the current provider.

(7) The department neither requires nor prohibits the use of plethysmographs or polygraphs. The choice of these and other treatment and evaluation techniques is at the discretion of the provider subject to the terms of the court order in a particular case. The following standards apply when such techniques are used.

(a) Use of plethysmography. PLETHYSMOGRAPHY: The use of physiological assessment measures, such as penile plethysmography, can yield valuable information regarding the sexual arousal patterns of sex offenders. This data can be useful in assessing therapy progress and in monitoring for community safety. When obtained physiological assessment data shall not be used as the sole basis for offender risk assessment and shall not be used to determine if an individual has committed a specific sexually deviant act. Providers who utilize this data shall be aware of the limitations of the plethysmography and shall recognize that plethysmography data is only meaningful within the context of a comprehensive evaluation and/or treatment process. Sex offender treatment providers shall insure that physiologic assessment data is interpreted only by sex offender treatment providers who possess the necessary training and experience. Sex offender treatment providers shall insure that particular care is taken when performing physiological assessment with juvenile offenders and other special populations, due to concerns about exposure to deviant materials. Given the intrusiveness of this procedure, care shall be given to the dignity of the client.

(8) Use of polygraph. POLYGRAPH: The use of the polygraph examination may enhance the treatment and monitoring process by encouraging disclosure of information relevant and necessary to understanding the extent of present risk and compliance with treatment and court requirements. When obtained the polygraph data achieved through periodic examinations is an important asset in monitoring the sex offender client in the community. Other alternative sources of verification may also be utilized. Sex offender treatment providers shall be knowledgeable of the limitations of the polygraph and shall take into account its appropriateness with each individual client and special client populations. Examinations shall be given in accordance with the treatment plan and the needs shown in the evaluation. Sex offender treatment providers shall not base treatment plan decisions solely on the results of the polygraph examination.
