PUBLIC NOTICE

The Reissuance of the Wastewater Operator Certification Program Draft Fee Schedule

The Washington state department of ecology (ecology) certifies wastewater treatment plant operators to ensure they are able to properly operate and maintain wastewater treatment plants.

By law, ecology must fund the wastewater operator certification (OpCert) program with fees. These fees are subject to change, dependent upon a budget and workload analysis completed every biennium.

Based on the estimated administrative costs of the OpCert program and the projected account balance, ecology intends to raise wastewater operator certification fees beginning July 1, 2023.

Copies of the Draft Fee Schedule: The current and draft fee schedules are available online at <https://ecology.wa.gov/opcert>. You may request hard copies from Torrie Shaul at 360-789-3831 or opcert@ecy.wa.gov.

Public Notice Process and Comments: Ecology is accepting public comments on the draft fee schedule from March 31, 2023, through 11:59 p.m. on May 15, 2023. Comments must be made in writing. Ecology prefers to receive comments on the draft fee schedule through the e-Comment form. However, we will accept written comments via email and by mail. Ecology will review all comments received by the deadline, and plans to publish the final fee schedule prior to June 30, 2023.
