PERMANENT RULES

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

[Filed May 17, 2024, 1:34 p.m., effective June 17, 2024]

Effective Date of Rule: Thirty-one days after filing.

Purpose: There are three license types addressed in this rule: The licensed behavior analyst (LBA), the licensed assistant behavior analyst (LABA), and the certified behavior analyst (CBT).

- Rule amendments for these professions include establishing standards for all professional credentialing entities to allow the department of health (department) to accept more than one national certification toward licensure thus opening up licensure to additional qualified applicants.
- LBA amendments include adding qualifications for licensure as an LBA to rule. The previous rule required applicants to have passed the national board certified behavior analyst (BCBA) examination offered by the Behavior Analyst Certification Board (BACB). Applicants had to meet the BACB standards to take the examination.
- LABA amendments clarify required courses that are not taken as part of the applicant's bachelor's degree must be part of an approved course sequence. This provides further clarity of applicant requirements. LABA rules also require supervision agreements to be reviewed at least once per year to ensure accuracy of records.
- CBT amendments change requirements for behavior technician training programs, including lengthening the time the trainee has to apply for a certification to make it easier to apply when the training began within a college program, and indicating how long the trainee's documents must be kept in order to assure [ensure] accuracy of the records. Continuing supervision of the CBT now requires that the supervision agreements must be reviewed once per year in order to assure [ensure] accuracy of the records. Continuing education requirements for AIDS training and health equity are changed in order to meet requirements of law. CBTs are required to have a continuing competency evaluation by an LBA or LABA. In order to allow individuals that can't get an evaluation to renew, an amendment allows a CBT who is not currently working in this capacity to renew without that requirement but they must have the evaluation within three months of beginning work.
- New rules include adoption of a license based on reciprocity and adds a temporary license for LBAs to make access to the license easier.
- Fee changes include adding fees for the new rules and reducing certain fees and adding an expired license reissuance fee to align with agency standards.
- Other changes are adopted to clarify or restructure rules without significantly changing the intent.
